$80,000 Project Overwhelmingly Approved

Highway Garage Voted In

ESOPUS — The town will have a new highway garage by mid-summer as the result of an overwhelming vote Tuesday in favor of spending $80,000 in surplus budget money for the project.

Some 1,172 Esopus residents turned out yesterday to vote on the issue, which had been strongly supported by Supervisor Joseph Sills and the town board.

"It was a welcome turnout of voters and we were very appreciative of their support," said Sills this morning.

The final tally was 843 in favor,

329 against using the money for construction.

Sills said the "main thing is that voters accepted the explanations they were given on how we planned to utilize the funds."

"Sometimes, if you just talk about spending, they don't want to hear it. But if you explain to people how the money will be used to their advantage, it becomes a matter of interest and concern to them," he said.

The entire project will cost an estimated $150,000 — $70,000 of which will be borrowed and repaid over the next four years.

Sills said today that garage construction will probably go out for bid within the next two weeks and that he's hoping the town will get responses from a number of local companies.

Target date for beginning construction on the facility is May 1.

The new garage will house all the town's equipment and will be located on Mountain View Road near the Port Ewen Elementary School.

UCCC Bargainers Walk Out of Contract Talks

Faculty Snubs Parley

By CHAZY DOWALIBY

Freeman staff

KINGSTON — Community College bargainers walked out of contract talks with the county last night, with only one issue left to resolve.

Keith LaBudde, chairman of the Faculty Association at UCCC said this morning that they don't plan to give up on their four-year old right to elect division chairpersons to head the six academic divisions at the college.

The faculty and the county have agreed on every other aspect of a proposed two-year contract — most of it running along the lines of a state fact finders report on the negotiations issued early in January.

But the fact finder and the county think the appointment of chairpersons should be made by the college president.

"We had an agreement to accept the contract except for this one thing," said chief county bargainer Peter Savago, R-Dist. 8, "now we'll just have to wait and see what happens."

Savago has asked for a special session of the county legislature to be convened Feb. 22 at 8 p.m. to present his report on the status of negotiations.

The Faculty Association will meet Monday, Feb. 21, to hear about the same thing from their bargaining unit.

Neither LaBudde nor Savago had any real idea where the conflict would go from here.

"I guess the next step might be to call in a state conciliator," said Savago, "but I don't really know what we'll do, yet."

LaBudde said that the issue of faculty election of division heads caused "real fear on the part of the faculty," because of previous "bad experiences in the past" when the chairpersons had been appointed by the administration.

"This is something we fought very hard for and it is of great value to us," he said.

Under the college's recent re-organization there are six divisions, Humanities, Social Sciences, Mathematics and Physical Sciences, Biology, Business and Nursing.

Each division has a chairperson as well as two to five 'coordinators' which may head up various departments in the division.

The faculty members in each division now elect a chairperson annually on the basis of his ability to deal effectively with the other person-

Former Children's Facility Rezoned

Home Set for Group Use

By ROB BORSELLINO

KINGSTON — Breaking with tradition, the Kingston Zoning Board of Appeals made an on-the-spot decision last night and granted a zoning change that will allow the Kingston Lion's Club to turn the former Children's Home into a shared facility.

The Lion's plan to convert the East Chester Street building into a place where they can have their offices and where they can provide office space for some of the non-profit organizations in the local area. The building will also be used to carry out many of the Lion's Club functions, which include programs for senior citizens, the blind and the handicapped.

The ZBA apparently liked the idea and since no one presented any objections, the zoning change was approved and the Lion's will go ahead with plans.

Richard Fredenberg, the executive director of Ulster County United Way, the organization which incorporates most of the local non-profit agencies, said he expects that between five and eight of his organizations will be able to make use of the facility once it's converted.

Fredenberg, who is also an active member of the Lion's Club, says that in addition to helping keep down the overhead of the agencies, the building will also provide a good gym facility for the community and a place where area residents can go to find "constructive ongoing programs."

Unfortunately for the ZBA that was not the only matter they had to consider last night. Another matter raised several questions, including the question of whether selling birth

Board Approves Permanent Office, Hires Director

Woodstock Backs Welfare

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK — The 16-month-long welfare payments impasse between Woodstock and the county ended Tuesday night as the Town Board voted to permanently reopen the local welfare office, and appointed Woodstock's first, full-time social services officer.

Beginning Feb. 22, the welfare office will be back in operation for the first time since October of 1975. At its head will be Jane Valand, a 29-year-old Lake Hill resident and former case worker in New York City from 1968 to 1976.

The town closed its office more than a year ago, and its refusal to pay home relief recipients led to continuing friction between Woodstock officials and the county Social Services Department, which was forced to take over responsibility. The county is now billing Woodstock property owners for 1976 welfare bills, a move that is being contested by the town in court.

The board, however, had included $100,000 in this year's budget for welfare purposes and, at last night's meeting, transferred $7,300 from that fund into another social services category to cover salary and equipment for Ms. Valand.

Traditionally, Woodstock's supervisor has served as welfare officer at no pay. Ms. Valand, who will begin work next Tuesday, will receive $6,300 for the remainder of this year.

Valand brings to the job wide experience in many social services areas, including fair hearings, family services, drug and alcohol abuse, psychiatric services, and eligibility. Chosen from 19 applicants for the position because of her more than eight years of experience, she told the board last night she would "attack"

Randall Resigns Job; Cites 'Stumbling Blocks'

KINGSTON — The head of the county's Manpower and Intergovernmental Co-ordination office resigned today, saying he had "not been given the proper latitude to carry out" his job.

Robert C. Randall, who has headed that dual-agency since its creation in 1971, will quit the post March 22.

"Stumbling blocks have been thrown in my path," he said this morning.

"I have not been given the equipment to do my job. I have repeatedly been denied travel requests, which are a very important part of keeping abreast of federal programs.

"I just cannot carry out the job the way it should be done."

Randall now heads up the county's $3.7 million CETA program which employs about 1,000 persons in public service jobs, as well as the smaller department which helps the county and towns apply for federal and state grants.

Although most of his employees are paid through federal funds, Randall gets his $18,365 a year from the county legislature, which in recent months has denied him some requested travel expenses.

Legislature Chairman Ernest Gardner was unavailable for comment on Randall's resignation today, but a spokesman for the legislature said that some statement would be issued before the end of the week.

Gets No Wampum for Maintaining 900 Hydrants

Kingston Gives Away Fire Water

By SID LEAVITT

Freeman staff

KINGSTON — The city water department maintains 900 fire hydrants for which there is no statutory mandate and from which there is no revenue, an unusual act of municipal benevolence that continues, it seems, because that's the way it's always been.

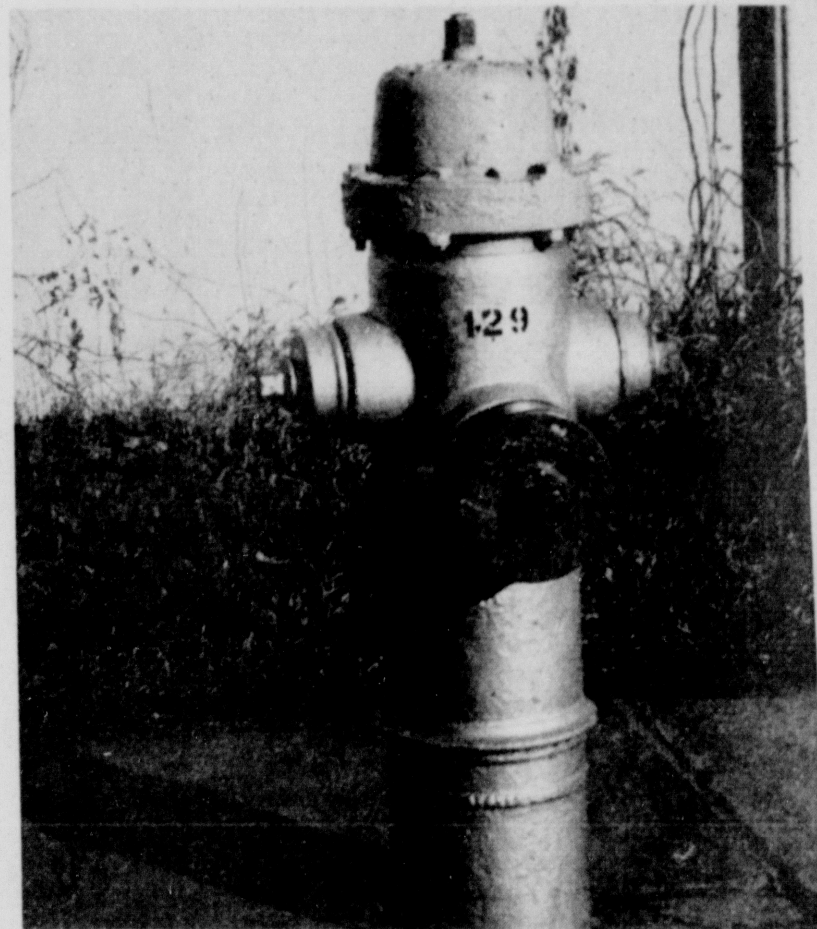

That there is no state or local statute forcing the water department to maintain fire protection equipment — a not-widely-known fact — came out of a press release from the department after a Feb. 6 fire destroyed Wearhouse Fabrics on Albany Avenue.

Citing the department's special winter maintenance precautions on hydrants, Acting Administrator Edwin F. Radel said, "All of this attention as well as the huge volumes of water used at a fire are a courtesy service of the water department for which (it) receives no direct compensation."

Between the Wearhouse Fabrics fire and the blaze that destroyed the Beef House restaurant three weeks earlier, an estimated two million gallons of water were used by firefighters, Radel said.

In most communities, this water — about $1,254 worth, Radel figured — and hydrant maintenance would be charged to the fire department. But not in Kingston.

In the 1896 city charter still in effect today with certain revisions, the water department is set up as an autonomous agency, governed by a separate group of commissioners, without any mention of fire protection and thus without any mention of a charge-back system to recoup expenses for maintaining protective equipment such as hydrants.

As far as the state is concerned, there is no intervening statute. That's the opinion of George H. Proper, fire protection specialist of the N.Y. Department of State's Fire Prevention and Control Division, and of Samuel Syrotinski, acting director of the State Health Department's Bureau of Public Water Supply.

Radel conceded that the taxpayer, one way or the other, pays for hydrant

World in Brief

Vance, Rabin Have Productive Talk

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance had breakfast with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin at the prime minister's residence in the heart of Jerusalem today. The two held their first round of talks and Rabin was quoted as saying, "I was very, very satisfied with the discussion, in which there was a general review of the situation in the Middle East, the relations between the two countries and the fundamentals of the method of talks."

Vance, who arrived Tuesday on a six-nation tour of the Middle East, also planned talks with Foreign Minister Yigal Alon, President Ephraim Katzir, former Prime Minister Golda Meir and Defense Minister Shimon Peres.

DETROIT (UPI) — The four top automakers reported increased sales for the Feb. 1-10 period were 19 per cent over last year. The best report was from the Ford Motor Co., with a record 27 per cent above a year ago and General Motors' sales were up 26 per cent.

But, one industry analyst said, "Some of the increase we saw in early February was the result of the low January sales. A lot of cars that could not be delivered in late January finally were turned over to customers this month."

'Nazi' Killer Had Ties to Hate Group

NEW ROCHELLE (UPI) — Fred Cowan, the Nazi devotee who killed five men and wounded five others in a shooting rampage, carried a membership card in a group which, like himself, "espoused hatred of blacks and Jews," Police Commissioner William Hegarty says. But he did not disclose the organization's identity.

However, an acquaintance said Cowan "tried to give me a paper which was from the National States' Rights Party" and "kept talking about how much he hated Jews and blacks."

Here And There

She Gives Up Cyanide

OXFORD, England (UPI) — An elderly woman walked into a drugstore Tuesday, the opening day of a campaign to persuade city residents to clear their homes of unwanted drugs and medicines, and handed over enough cyanide to kill 10,000 persons, officials said.

Just Wanted That Dog

CHICAGO (UPI) — A South Side man wearing a nylon stocking mask and armed with a three-foot pipe broke into the Anti-Cruelty Society's headquarters, tied up the lone employee with dog leashes, and stole a dog named Champ. Police say the suspect, arrested a short time later, wanted to obtain the dog legally, but couldn't come up with the $25 fee charged at the shelter.

Harold Jones, 22, was arrested about 15 minutes after the theft and charged with armed robbery and burglary.

Police investigator David Paul said the thief confronted Pamela Mihn, 23, the only night employee, and ordered her to unlock the boxer's cage and let the dog out.

Paul said Jones apologized to Miss Mihn at the police station.

He Really Hit the Roof

LONDON (UPI) — Driving his bus on the usual route that passed his house, Roland Usherwood hit the roof.

He saw city workmen mistakenly ripping the roof off his home. They should have been at a house 200 yards away. The workmen put on a new roof but two days later it began to leak. Heavy rain seeped through and badly damaged the ceiling and new carpets.

The Greater London Council brought in outside contractors to repair the new roof but Usherwood complained that he had been waiting four weeks for authorities to fix his ceiling.

"The whole matter is ridiculous," he said. "It was a mistake — a human error," a GLC spokesman said. "The men removed the wrong roof. But we are going to fix the ceiling."

Blames Lawyers for $60,500 Loss

Widow Wins $3,500 Settlement

By LYNN MULVANEY
Freeman staff

KINGSTON — A Kingston widow who was unable to collect a $60,500 judgment in connection with her late husband's accidental electrocution settled for $3,500 last week in a malpractice suit against one of her lawyers.

Theresa Vining Dunnigan, the widow of Warren G. Vining, who died Aug. 20, 1955 at the age of 29 while on the job at Callanan Road Improvement Co., brought the suit against Kingston lawyer, Marshall C. Lipton. She contended that he failed to advise her she had the right to bring a malpractice action against her original attorney, Howard C. St. John, before the statute of limitations ran out.

The $3,500 settlement was reached in the chambers of Supreme Court Justice Robert Sise. Sise declined to discuss the case other than to confirm that it was settled last week.

Both Lipton's attorney James T. Whalen of White Plains and St. John denied the charges today.

Mrs. Dunnigan's Bronx attorney, Arlen Yalkut, told the Freeman that the 1964 $60,500 judgment against McNelis Bros., local electricians, was canceled by Justice T. Paul Kane in 1970 because St. John failed to "carry out his legal obligations."

Countering, St. John said "it is grossly unfair for this New York City attorney (Yalkut) to make such reckless allegations outside of court but fail to make my firm a party to the litigation and thus give us the opportunity to refute them. Obviously, he chose not to sue because he knows the charges are untrue.

"Our firm was not responsible for any malpractice in this case. Twelve years ago we secured a $65,000 judgment for our client. We have had no client contact with the case for over 10 years."

St. John said three or four other attorneys have been involved in the case since then and he has no direct knowledge of what they have done or failed to do.

"They blame it, however, justifiably shift their blame to us," he concluded.

Yalkut also told of another suit brought by Mrs. Dunnigan against the national firm of Allis Chalmers which had equipment at the construction site at which Vining died. That suit, he said, was discontinued by St. John in 1974 because the statute of limitations had run out.

Yalkut's position is that St. John was still an attorney of record until 1969 and that an action could have been brought against him until 1972. But, he said, Lipton did not advise her of her right to bring such action.

Yalkut also claimed that St. John, who was retained by Mrs. Dunnigan the week of the accident, "did not bother to have her made administratrix of the estate until 1958, three years after the action was begun and never served papers on McNelis or Chalmers until 1958, a year after the two-year statute of limitations had run out.

"Mrs. Dunnigan's case was weak and should have been dismissed," according to Lipton's lawyer, a Westchester County attorney who specializes in legal malpractice cases.

"If you have a good $60,500 case, you don't settle for $3,500," he said, convinced that it would have been impossible for Mrs. Dunnigan to prove her negligence claim.

"Whalen looks on the $3,500 settlement as a 'nuisance' settlement, agreed to by the insurance carrier in order to save further court costs, should the case have gone to an appeal.

He also emphasized that Lipton was hired to collect the judgment but couldn't because the McNelis assets were insufficient to meet the amount of the judgment.

Although a settlement has been reached, Mrs. Dunnigan still plans to take the case one step further. She has made inquiries already as to procedures for bringing the matter before the Grievance Committee of the Ulster County Bar Association.

2-1 Democratic Margin in Rosendale

Mrs. Mihm Gets Mayor's Nod

ROSENDALE — Village Democrats endorsed trustee and housewife Kathleen Mihm as their candidate for mayor by a 2-1 margin Tuesday night over incumbent Marc Phelan. Phelan said he will run as an independent in the March 15 election.

Unanimously nominated for re-election by the village's major political party were Village Justice Wilfred G. Doolittle and Trustee Ruth Gheer.

Although their offices will expire Dec. 31 when village government is taken over by the township, Mrs. Mihm said tax bills for the final nine months should be "kept to an absolute minimum."

She also pledged a program of widespread information on costs and benefits of the village's proposed $1.5 million sewer project, a matter scheduled for public hearing March 2 and a later referendum.

Phelan, a trustee two years and mayor since October when Raivo Puusemp resigned, chose businessman Wilton Myers as running mate for trustee on the independent ticket. Myers is co-chairman of the Village Board of Police Commissioners.

Mrs. Mihm, nominated by Charles George with a nominating speech from County Legislator Barbara DeStefano, won the mayoral nod 32 to 16 with one blank ballot.

The turnout was one of the heaviest in recent years, apparently the result of a lively campaign in which Phelan defended his record and Mrs. Mihm attacked his unwillingness to cooperate more with her and Mrs. Gheer as trustees.

"There has never been a conflict on the present board concerning any motion made on village matters," Phelan said in announcing his independent candidacy.

Mrs. Mihm said the caucus showed "fantastic" interest in local government, and she felt the village will continue to be a strong voting bloc after consolidation with the town.

Republicans aren't expected to run candidates in the village election.

Six Show for Saugerties Grievance

SAUGERTIES — Only six people turned out for Grievance Day in the Village of Saugerties on Tuesday, and not even all of that small number came to complain.

When the four-hour session from 5 to 9 p.m. in the clerk/treasurer's office had ended, one taxpayer had received a decrease in assessment, and another case had been referred to the village board for action.

One local resident dropped in to talk about boundaries, and another to see if his assessment had been changed. It hadn't.

With board members in attendance, assessors agreed to a decrease in assessment involving two lots owned by one local resident. Taxes on one lot had been determined on the basis of a cabin once noted there, but long since torn down. The home of the property owner is now listed on the second lot. A decrease on an 80 by 100 foot lot was authorized from an original $3,000 assessment on the basis that the cabin no longer existed.

Another grievance involved the building of a road on property that has now become the entrance to the new Meadow Park development. The complainant submitted a deed, which must be formally accepted by the village board before the assessment problem can be resolved.

CAPITOL CAPSULE

Car Insurance Cut Possible

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A summary of state government news Tuesday:

NO-FAULT INSURANCE

The cost of car insurance could be cut if the current minimum of $500 in medical costs was replaced with a different type of threshold for allowing suits in auto accidents, the Independent Insurance Agents Association said. Under the 1974 law, a person injured in an auto accident is permitted to sue if his medical costs amount to more than $500.

This limit is easily reached and defeats the purpose of a no-fault law, association officials said.

COURT RULES

The state's highest court rejected a bid by an Onondaga County developer for damages against the village of Camillus, whose failure to improve its sewers prevented construction of a housing project. The Court of Appeals unanimously rejected a request by William Charles for $50,000 in damages, saying there was no "appropriation of private property" and therefore no basis for such a damage award. The judges said, "The courts should not use the threat of money sanctions to whip government into providing municipal improvements."

GAS CURTAILMENTS

Natural gas utilities in the state report none of the 500,000 persons made jobless by the gas shortage two weeks ago are out of work because of current curtailments, the Public Service Commission said.

Officials said, however, that despite the improvements over the most painful part of the gas pinch, upstate industrial and commercial gas users may face cutbacks ranging around 20 per cent into the summer months.

CHAIRMAN CONFIRMED

The Senate confirmed William Barry, Gov. Hugh Carey's nominee to chair the state Racing and Wagering Board in a unanimous voice vote.

The former FBI agent, who was a vice president of Franklin National Bank before assuming the state post, said the board was considering allowing harness tracks to hold a 10th race as a means of easing their financial situation.

SENATE

The Senate approved a measure to refund or credit to drivers $1.6 million collected by the Motor Vehicles Department before the courts ruled illegal higher license fees for traffic violators.

Passed without objection were two bills that would require zero-base budgeting for state agencies and put the state on an accrual accounting system in which all of a year's income and spending would have to be shown for the year involved rather than carried over into another year.

Delay Opens Door For Insurance Hikes

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The legislature has closed the barn door, but not before three major insurance carriers have driven through premium increases on automobile coverage.

The companies were able to immediately begin collecting the increases, instead of having to wait for state Insurance Department approval, because the two houses of the legislature and Gov. Hugh Carey couldn't agree on extension of the so-called prior approval law which lapsed Feb. 1.

The three companies which have taken advantage of the political dispute are Home Insurance, Allstate, and State Farm. The increases, immediately effective on new policies, average up to 24.6 per cent on a statewide basis.

They might eventually have been approved by the Insurance Department under the previous law, but the temporary open rating system permits companies to immediately begin collecting the higher fees.

The weeks-old political hassle about the extension was resolved Tuesday when Sen. John Dunne, R-Garden City, and Assemblyman Leonard Silverman, D-Brooklyn, chairmen of the legislature's insurance committees met with Thomas Harnett, state insurance commissioner.

The Democrat-controlled Assembly earlier had approved an extension until Dec. 31 favored by Silverman. The Republican-dominated Senate had acted on a June 30 bill offered by Dunne.

The Senate relented Tuesday and passed the Democratic version. In the meantime, the auto insurance writers had driven the increases through a loophole opened when the law reverted to open rating, a system which permits insurers to set their own rates subject to possible rollback or rebate if the Insurance Department finds they are excessive.

Despite the new legislation, rate increases announced by the companies will stand, at least until the department can order hearings and establish if they are too high.

Allstate, on Monday, announced an immediate rate hike for new policies averaging 24.6 per cent statewide and notifying agents that renewals after April 22 would reflect the same increase. Previously, State Farm upped rates 20 per cent, and Home Insurance increased 24 per cent.

State Farm insures 408,000 vehicles in the state; Allstate 850,000. It was not immediately known how many motorists the new Home Insurance rates would affect.

All of the companies had had rate cases pending before the department at time the prior approval law lapsed.

Dunne said "the sole reason" he was pushing for his shorter extension of the prior approval law was "to avoid having this issue dealt with in the last 36 to 72 hours of

Higher Rate Ceiling Seen Attracting More Funds

New Mortgage Plan Proposed

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Replacing the present 8.5 per cent lid on home mortgage interest rates with a floating ceiling of up to 10 per cent would attract more funds to the state's housing market, says a Carey administration spokesman.

Offsetting the higher cost to consumers would be lower downpayment requirements and similar easing of loan restrictions, according to State Banking Superintendent Leonard Lapidus.

Lapidus, outlining his 1977 legislative program Tuesday, noted that the home mortgage ceiling "has lagged behind changes in market conditions during the past 10 years."

A spokesman for Lapidus said letting the usury ceiling float at 2 per cent above the yield on 10-year United States bonds would currently put the top mortgage rate at 8.75 per cent. There would be a ceiling of 10 per cent.

The flexible rate has been proposed by the Banking Department for the last three years, but the concept has been ignored by the legislature because of the feared political effect of boosting the rate.

Other department bills would:

— Prohibit late charges on any credit card or other credit payment paid in full within 10 days of its due date.

— Require payments to be credited first to currently due amounts instead of to pay late charges so that such deductions would not put the borrower "in a perpetual state of default" by making the new payment insufficient.

— Allow a bank holding company which conducts its principal business in another state to establish two offices in New York City.

— Give the banking superintendent power to authorize savings banks to establish automated teller machines and similar point-of-sale facilities.

— Empower the Banking Board to approve acquisition of potentially failing savings banks, credit unions and savings and loan associations by a commercial bank or other type of financial institution "upon finding that an emergency exists."

— Authorize the board to set reserve requirements on savings banks offering checking accounts.

Lapidus said his mortgage rate plan "will result in making more funds available for the local housing market and should contribute to an easing of downpayment and maturity requirements during tight money periods, offsetting the effect of higher interest rates to borrowers."

He said only New York and West Virginia have 8.5 per cent ceilings; nine have adopted flexible rates, 26 have ceiling of 10 per cent or more and eight have no ceiling.

ONTEORA

Parents Want More School Security

By HOLLISTER STURGES
Correspondent

BOICEVILLE—Approximately 40 parents attended the Onteora Board of Education meeting Monday night and requested that the school enforce stricter security measures to reduce the loss of their children's personal belongings, and that compensation be awarded to children who are injured while attending school.

The board maintained that security had been improved since the last meeting. It then submitted a report by Jack Schlegel, an independent security officer of T.K. Associates in Kingston, who on a voluntary basis investigated the school's security problem. Schlegel said in the report that "Onteora does not have a serious problem and by no means can it be considered a 'crime wave,' as earlier cited by a local newspaper." Schlegel, present at the meeting, added that he believes that it would be too expensive to hire security personnel.

Board members said they recognized their responsibility to provide and maintain safe, secure school facilities, but stressed the need for cooperation and support of staff members, the student body, and the community as a whole.

Parents also expressed concern about the flaking of asbestos fibers in the ceilings of the school. They were told that samples had been tested in three places in the school. In two of the tests no flaking was found. In the third, flaking was considered to be minimal and not harmful to students' health.

Sam Mercer, a Woodstock trustee, said that he was concerned that unless action begins immediately a $90,000 grant from the state covering a three-year period may be lost. Terms of the grant require the school board to provide an additional $17,200. Mercer noted that the sum required of the board could include services of school personnel and said that Onteora has the manpower to accomplish the goal. The matter was tabled for further investigation.

Other business included:

- Ratification of the 1976-78 Onteora Teachers Association contract.
- Awarding bids for the purchase of tires.
- Discussion of special transportation for handicapped children.
- Discussion for school remodeling and elevator rehabilitation.

Darrow Resigns From Onteora School Board

BOICEVILLE—James W. Darrow of West Hurley announced an end to "a wonderful three years," and resigned his seat on the Onteora Board of Education Monday.

Darrow has been transferred to IBM's North Carolina facility.

Sam Mercer, Woodstock trustee, expressed appreciation of Darrow's "untiring work" on both the Board of Education and the Board of Cooperative Educational Services. Board members then gave Darrow a standing ovation.

Darrow's resignation leaves an opening in the nine man board which will be filled by an appointee, who will be expected to run for election at the end of this term, for a three-year trusteeship.

allies in the division. The bad experiences LaBuddie referred to centered around persons "who may have had good academic credentials but did not function well with the other members of the division," he said.

What the bargaining units agreed upon last night was a general salary increase of $500 over two years — which means about a three to three and a half per cent increase over each year.

The starting salary for an instructor at the college is about $9,100 a year. Full professors make somewhere around $22,000.

Out of a faculty of 90, there are 25 to 30 full professors. The average salary at the college is $16,162 a year.

•HYDRANTS

service either in his water bill or in his tax bill.

As Syrotinski put it, "The question really is, who do you give the money to?"

But since the city water department is autonomous, the commissioners conceivably could decide to charge other departments for hydrant services in order to keep their own budget tighter.

Would the commissioners ever decide not to maintain hydrants?

Radel smiled at the idea: "I don't think that could ever happen. We do it as a routine part of the operation, and it's been going on for many years."

Besides fire hydrants and water used for fires, the water department also provides free water and equipment for fire training classes and free water to the public works department for flushing streets and sewers.

The hydrant network alone, Radel figured, would cost more than $2 million to install and maintain at today's prices.

What irritates the water commissioners — especially Frank C. Sasa, chairman of extensions and improvements — "is that the public takes all this for granted. They don't fully realize what goes into assuring that the hydrants are there," Radel said.

•WELFARE

Woodstock's specific welfare problems.

The board also took a firm stand last night on the continued lack of action in the building of Wittenberg State Park. By endorsing a resolution by Councilman Lester Shultis, calling for a "clear accounting" from the Department of Environmental Conservation on what "corrective action" is planned at the park site, the board indicated its displeasure on the facility's long delayed opening.

Work began on the park eight years ago but, in the last two years, little has been done. Shultis said the site had been "a deplorable wasteland" for the past six years, and that nothing had been done in the last few years except for the planting of a few trees.

•ZBA

control pills and false teeth was more dignified than selling bridal garments. Or, to put that question another way, if you let the camel put his nose in the tent, will he soon have his whole body in the tent?

Those questions were raised when the ZBA was asked to consider a request for a special permit from city resident Frank De Cicco, who would like the permit to allow him to do tailoring work in his home.

De Cicco currently has a tailoring and bridal garment shop in the Mammoth Mall, but he would like to move his business to his Albany Avenue residence so he can help his wife raise their four kids and so his wife can help him with the business.

Some of his neighbors feel that the area, which is zoned residential, should remain residential, with no exceptions.

De Cicco's attorney, Sherwood Davis, claims that exceptions, such as doctor's offices, nursing homes and real estate offices, already exist. In addition, Davis says that the zoning laws allow for musicians, artists, attorneys and other professionals to conduct business in their homes and his client "has spent years in his art," and to him, his profession is "just as dignified as any of those others."

Davis also noted that the business would not result in any exterior changes in De Cicco's house other than "a small, dignified sign."

The neighbors, each being careful to preface their remarks by saying that they object to De Cicco coming in as a businessman and not as a neighbor, say that the tailoring business "will be out of character with the neighborhood and once it starts, we'll have a whole row of businesses." They were joined by their alderman, James Howard, D-Ward 7, and they also had the support of an alderman from a neighboring ward, John Finch, D-Ward 5.

Driver Tried to Keep Going

ELLENVILLE—When it was Melvin Torres' turn to approach the Ellenville Village Court bench Tuesday night to answer a motor vehicle and traffic violation, the 20-year-old man did an about face and headed for the court room door, police officials said.

On Judge Ronald Elias's instructions, Patrolman Ronald Rosner ran after Torres to bring him back before the bench.

When Torres reached the stairs, police said, he resisted Rosner's efforts, reportedly became loud and abusive and attempted to strike the patrolman who also serves as a court officer.

Finally subdued, Torres, who lives at 40 Burlison St., Ellenville, was fined $25 for contempt of court and was jailed in lieu of $50, pending his reappearance Feb. 22 to answer the vehicle and traffic violations.

Additional charges by Rosner are pending, police said.

Trailer Burns

A large house trailer in East Kingston, occupied by the John Joy family, was completely gutted by fire Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Joy and her child were home at the time but escaped unharmed, according to East Kingston Fire Chief Thomas Cole.

The fire, which was reported about 2:24 p.m., apparently broke out in the vicinity of a hot water heater, Cole said.

The fire company was assisted at the scene by mutual aid from Ulster Hose Company and Glasco Fire Company.

Drug Charge

Kingston State Police report the arrest of David J. Neff, 17, of Lucas Ave., High Falls, about midnight Tuesday.

He was charged with criminal possession of a controlled substance in the seventh degree, marijuana.

Arraigned before Rosendale Town Justice Albert Morelli, Neff was released in the custody of his parents' pending another court appearance.

Thanks for Community Spirit

Dear Editor:

There are two groups of people in Ulster County who deserve to be most highly commended for community spirit and warm-heartedness. They are the Exchange Club of Kingston and the teachers of the mentally handicapped. I am sure that I speak for many others when I say thank you to these men and women who each year voluntarily give their time and attention to help the retarded children of this county in the fine physical fitness program that culminates in the Special Olympics.

My 12-year-old retarded son lost his father two years ago, so I am especially aware of the value of these volunteers who fill the role of someone from whom to learn about fair play, good sportsmanship, and helping others—someone to look up to. An old saying applies perfectly here—a person is never taller than when he or she stoops to help a child. Thank you, Exchange Club of Kingston and teachers of the mentally handicapped.

The Draft against Liberty

WASHINGTON — The talk grows on Capitol Hill and elsewhere that it is necessary to bring back the draft. The timing must be fortuitous to be sure, but it is a fact that the revival of conscription coincides with a tacit, bi-partisan admission that nobody here knows of a safe and practical way to bring unemployment down much faster than Jerry Ford said he is determined to be, and therefore how big our army should be, one or two percentage points could be knocked off those damnable monthly unemployment numbers.

Some of the rascals who want to bring this form of involuntary servitude back are quite open about its sanguine effects on joblessness. These are the people who don't want a mere draft for the Army but a National Service Corps in which all 18 to 20 year olds, male and female, will have to give two years of labor to the fatherland either playing soldier or emptying bed pans.

The arguments to do this thing are many and varied, ranging from the nasty pragmatic to idealistic. The most ignoble is that the voluntary army costs too much money, money we'd rather spend on new bombers and aircraft carriers for admirals to strut on, so make the kids work for nothing or next to it. Some of the very same people who talk this way will shortly vote to give themselves and the rest of the upper echelons in government huge pay raises.

As ever in the case, they'll conscript people but not capital, not money. This gives a certain piquancy to another pro-conscription argument: The volunteer army is "unfair" because it tends to recruit black youths in a higher proportion than they exist in the general population.

Whether or not a racial slur is intended, that's what it sounds like when pro-draft speakers tell us 1) the Army is getting blacker and 2) the quality of the personnel is in decline. The argument which ought to get the biggest chuckle is the one which insists the "volunteer" army is becoming mercenary. The men and women signing up, so say the conscription advocates, aren't doing it out of love and a desire to submerge their interests to the nation's, but because they have no work. If our boys and girls are to serve for love, no money, shouldn't the munitions manufacturers sell their products at cost?

Well, perhaps not, because another reason advanced for the draft is that it's good for the soul. Our young people are soft, too much indulged and so pampered that not only are the hard virtues like perseverance and fortitude unknown to them, but they are also prey to nervous disorders and frightening insanities. In the old days they used to say the Army built character even if it did increase a boy's chance of contracting a venereal disease; now they are telling us it cures neuroses, as any one can tell by looking at the low, low figures for alcoholism and drug addiction in the service.

But none of the inconsistencies and airy assertions concerning the benefits of the draft are really that important. If every argument made for the draft was valid and convincing, it still wouldn't abrogate Amendment XIII of our Constitution: "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States or any place subject to their jurisdiction."

It is reasonable to say that Amendment XIII can be licitly suspended in time of war, especially if the enemy is at the gates, if the United States is immediately and directly threatened, but a peacetime draft is a different proposition altogether.

A Believer in Brotherhood

Next week is Brotherhood Week. It is our custom to set aside seven days of each 365 during which we may pause in our national aspirations to kill each other, to malign, defame, swindle, break up marriages, cheat and hate.

Don't panic. It's only for a week. Say a kind word about your mother-in-law. Love an Arab. Catch a hand grenade in Belfast. Forgive your boss. Send flowers to your wife. Stop telling Polish jokes. Give Congress one more chance.

Pat your dog. Stop spreading ugly rumors. Give your job a full 8-hour day. Forgive your cleric his innocence. Tell your family you feel great. Stop trying to be an example to the children.

Send a God-speed message to Gary Gilmore. Kiss someone ugly. Adopt a pregnant cat. Stop lying to your friends. Stand in front of the house and shout that you love everybody. Mail a German-English dictionary to Henry Kissinger.

Few pay attention to Brotherhood Week. Some groups select highly placed individuals and enroll their names on $40 plaques. It's a badge, a medallion, something which endorses the banker, the mayor, the columnist, a creep as one who loves his fellow man.

Unfortunately, I have never met a man or woman who deserved the honor. I have read of personages who have received Brotherhood Awards. Jews award them to Christians; Christians award them to each other.

Atheists manufacture the plaques.

There was one man who might have qualified. I ask you - has anyone ever heard of Charley Pearl? Does the name bounce a chime anywhere? I thought not. He was young and big and bald and he had no training in anything except smiling.

Charley could smile a cripple off his crutches. He knew little about little and ran a dinky little candy store in West Englewood, New Jersey.

He catered to kids. They jammed the dark little store after school. Pearl was dizzy running behind the soda fountain, counting newspapers, and making change for three cents worth of candy.

The Pearls lived in a walk-up a few doors away. He tried hard to make the rent. He had a stout wife and two little girls who required warm clothing and fewer wisecracks about Jews.

He was too poor for God. In a sense, he was childish enough to confine his friendship to children. Charley could laugh most of his pals out of their report-card blues.

There was a little radio behind the soda fountain. On a cold winter morning, icicles on the eaves stopped weeping. The radio music stopped. A doomsday voice announced that St. Joseph's Home for Children was burning in Englewood Cliffs.

Charley stopped smiling. He waited a minute. Then he shouted, "Out! Everybody out!" The children stopped pushing each other. "Out! Now!" Pearl doused the phos-phorescent lights. He shoved the kids out. He locked the door.

The fire was none of his business. The radio announcement was heard all over Northern New Jersey and New York. No one responded except the fire department, the police department and Charley Pearl.

He drove his $200 bomb through red lights. He was a maniac. At the top of the long hill he saw the black smoke staining the snow. It was Charley Pearl who ran inside and reassured the nuns. He didn't know how to address them.

"Come on, nuns," he said gently. "Tell the children to march two by two behind us. Go, please. Out this way." He found another class. And another. Pearl forgot to smile.

When they were safe on the big lawn, he drove to a diner. "The orphanage is on fire," he said. "I need all your hot soup and all your bread." "Says who?" the cook said. Charley elbowed the man and took what he wanted.

"If nobody pays, I'm in the phone book," he shouted. "Charley Pearl." He jiggled a cauldron of soup and a stack of bread back to the orphans and the sisters.

He drove back to the little store. Charley had lost a few bucks on the deal. The smile was back. In the morning, the orphanage fire made headlines. No one mentioned Charley Pearl. He was not considered for a Brotherhood award.

Who the hell ever heard of Charley Pearl?

Mobsters Butt In On The Pack

WASHINGTON — The nation's top manicured and moneyed mobsters have taken a quiet, deadly interest in the lowly cigarette.

It began with a few enterprising petty crooks, who discovered that the difference in state taxes made it profitable to smuggle cigarettes across state lines.

For example, a truckload of cigarettes from North Carolina, where the tax is 2 cents per pack, could be sold for big money in New York, where the tax is 15 cents. The bootlegger merely had to bypass the state tax collectors.

Now the crime syndicate has moved in on the racket. Members of the Vito Genovese and Carlo Gambino mobs have been linked to the underground traffic in cigarettes.

In several Northeastern states, the syndicate has cornered the cigarette blackmarket. Nearly half of all cigarettes sold in New York, for example, are distributed by the mob. Already, cigarette smuggling costs the taxpayers an estimated $400 million a year.

But investigators have now picked up dismaying evidence that the Mafia is expanding its cigarette operations into the Midwest and Southwest. In a recorded conversation with an undercover agent, one syndicate bootlegger boasted that "it'll be easy to move into Tucson."

Of course, the Mafia promotes and protects its new cigarette business by the blackjack, the knife and the gun. Investigators say more than a dozen cigarette bootleggers have been murdered. Some were executed, gangland-style, to eliminate the competition.

One suspected informant, Richard DeMary, was found dead in a ditch in northern New Jersey a week after a bootlegging bust. DeMary had been severely beaten and then riddled with .22 caliber bullets. Finally, his executioners blew off his head with several blasts from a .38-caliber handgun.

The Mafia has also transformed cigarette smuggling into an efficient business, complete with machines that turn out counterfeit tax stamps by the thousands. With the same efficiency, the businessmen-mobsters hijack cigarette cargoes, smuggle the contraband across state borders and corrupt the police who might get in the way.

According to New York State Tax Commissioner James H. Tully, cigarette smuggling, unhappily, is on the rise. Yet it's an interstate crime that the Justice Dept. doesn't want to add to its jurisdiction. Cigarettes seem so small; but the illegal profits are huge.

RENT-A-FARMER: Family farms still form the backbone of America's phenomenal agriculture production. They not only have made this the best-fed nation in history, but family farmers have been the traditional guardians of American values.

Yet in the past two decades, millions have been driven off their land by their inability to compete with the agriculture giants. Inflation has also driven many small farmers to the edge of bankruptcy.

Depression-born laws to protect the small farmers are hopelessly outdated and now serve to subsidize the giant landowners as they gobble up ever greater bites of the countryside.

One of the nation's most formidable banks, the $16 billion Continental Illinois National Bank, has joined in the squeeze on the small farmers. The bank will set up a $50 million, tax-exempt trust fund, which will buy up working farms throughout the Midwest.

Fields that were worked by families will be turned over to professional managers. They'll be paid either a salary or a share of the harvest. The profits from the operation will go to the trust's investors.

Land trusts are nothing new to big investors. But Continental Illinois has opened the way for them to capitalize on the misfortune of the harassed family farmers who can no longer meet rising costs.

Like a new plague of locusts, speculators are expected to gobble up the choicest farmland, drive up the prices and increase the relentless pressure on financially strapped family owners.

Spokesmen for Continental Illinois dispute this. They point out that the $50 million trust won't put a dent in the gigantic agricultural real estate market. The farmland purchases would also be made "gradually" and would "help young farmers," said a spokesman.

Yet the appearance down on the farm of the giant Continental Illinois National Bank will encourage other banks to create similar tax-exempt trusts.

Two concerned congressmen, Richard Nolan, D-Minn., and Fred Richmond, D-N.Y., have written a private letter to Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, urging him to study "the long-range economic and social implications should this type of investment vehicle be widely adopted."

Nolan told us that Continental Illinois' farm-purchasing, crop-leasing management plans amounted to a "return to a feudal system of tenants and landlords." The two congressmen have scheduled hearings on the new development.

Conviction by Innuendo

Dear Editor:

Had Harry Thayer taken a few minutes to call me concerning the charge of driving while intoxicated against Mr. Schuster, it would not have been necessary for him to come out with his usual 5 per cent fact and 95 per cent innuendo so-called Editorial of the Air. Since he did choose to excoriate me, the following facts are submitted:

Some time prior to 11:30 p.m., Mr. Schuster found himself unable to proceed along Rt. 28 because he was stuck in the snow. A Sheriff's patrol came along, and apparently requested that he take either a breathalyzer or blood alcohol test, which he did. Subsequently, he was issued a summons for driving with more than 0.10 per cent of alcohol in his blood. A call to me at 3 a.m. asked if I would be available for immediate arraignment, to which I was amenable. Mr. Schuster was brought in, the charge was read to him, as well as his rights under the Criminal Procedure Law. He indicated that he was indignant, and desired an ad-journalment for the purpose of having counsel assigned, and made application for release on recognizance, rather than bail, as he could not post bail at any time, and his 8-year-old son was at home alone, except that the deputies had arranged for someone to watch him temporarily. The application was granted, in accordance with the CPL, and the urging of directives from the Office of Court Administration. After the order of recognizance was made, Mr. Schuster was released, and DRIVEN TO HIS RESIDENCE BY THE DEPUTIES, IN WHOSE CUSTODY HE HAD BEEN. HE WAS NOT AT THAT TIME DRIVING.

Harry Thayer has already convicted Mr. Schuster, apparently, although to everyone else he has only been accused. Perhaps a more apt phrase than lace panty justice would have been "braying editorializing" in this case, et al.

Moonie Hits Deprogramming

Dear Editor:

I was greatly dismayed with your recent article, "Cult Lecture Ends in Strained Debate" (Feb. 4, page 6) which seemed to clearly expose the likes of Galen Kelly and his "deprogramming" activities against so-called "cults."

I have been a member of the Unification Church for almost three and a half years and am presently a senior at the Unification Theological Seminary at Barrytown. I was one of our six seminary students who attended Mr. Kelly's talk on Feb. 2, sponsored by the Women's Guild of the Old Dutch Church in Kingston. Mr. Kelly, an avowed "deprogrammer," spoke at length on his experiences with the "cults," of which he specifically singled out the Unification Church. I was greatly offended — not that he leveled his attack mainly at us, but that he played upon the emotions of his audience (of mostly elderly women) to get them to fear and revile Reverend Moon and the Unification Church. Using distortion and innuendo, he manipulated his "facts" to bolster their suspicions. As a result, misunderstanding and ill-feeling will likely develop in the local community against us. This is a national, not just a local, phenomenon. We are branded as "brainwashed" by the very people who refuse to communicate with us. Just a few, like Galen Kelly, have a vested interest in opposing us and further make it their business to sow the seeds of fear and hate in the rest of the community.

Mr. Kelly spoke of the values of his side-line profession — "deprogramming" (i.e., the systematic destruction of an individual's beliefs). His main targets are the young adults (usually well over 21) of the new, pejoratively-called "cults."

Last July, I was abducted in California, flown to Arizona, locked in a motel room, and badgered at by professional "deprogrammers" who tried to destroy my beliefs. Having no recourse (since even the police were cooperating with them) but to win their trust, I feigned submission, plotted my escape, and finally ran to freedom. It was a terrible ordeal which lasted eight days. However, I was fortunate — other members of our church have been imprisoned and badgered at for several weeks and even months! The details of their testimonies sound like tales of the KGB!

How is my relationship with my parents? I love my parents and they love me. But the seeds of fear and distrust the "deprogrammers" planted in my parents has left a chasm between us that only prayer and time can erase.

"Deprogramming" if aided and abetted by public approval will continue to be a daily menace to the lives of hundreds of young adults everywhere. One of our most cherished possessions in this country is the U.S. Constitution. In the First Amendment, "freedom of religion" is guaranteed. So is "freedom of the press." However, when these freedoms are used to slander sincere, God-loving peoples and then someone else prints those slanders along with further distortions and falsehoods, one becomes all too aware that our individual liberties are only as valuable as they are respected by others.

Your article added many distortions and falsehoods to those already spoken by Mr. Kelly. It is only fair that our side be presented — not only by someone who opposes us, but by one of our own members. If you really want to know about us and our beliefs, it only makes sense that somewhere in the course of the inquiry we ourselves are interviewed. The public has a standing invitation to visit our seminary here at Barrytown. We would gladly welcome one of your reporters to come and interview us. Find out about us, from us. I only hope that you, as the editor of this newspaper, will accept this sincere and reasonable request. When open and honest communication can begin, then real truth and understanding can emerge.

Sternglass Has Defenders Still

When Tom Geyer dropped his bomb last Sunday, apparently shattering Dr. Sternglass' contentions, I ran, teary and trembling, to the phone and dialed Larry Bogart's number (barely). "What are we gonna do!" I yelled. "Relax," said Larry. "This attack on Sternglass' early studies is an old chestnut. The pro-nuke people love to hack away at that and the rest." "Oh," I said, tears drying. A more long-term picture of Dr. Sternglass began to emerge. It seems that since his first studies, Sternglass has conducted many others all over the country. His studies, over the long haul and after careful examination, still point at a correlation between the operation of fission power plants and increases in cancer-related illnesses in the surrounding areas.

"The burden of Dr. Sternglass' argument," says Larry, "is not that he has proof positive of health damage caused by nuke operation, but that definitive studies ought to be undertaken to determine beyond doubt whether such damage does in fact occur."

The cost of such studies is far beyond the resources of the private citizen. Since 1963 Dr. Sternglass has sought to persuade the Surgeon General to conduct one. The answer he has gotten consistently is that such a study would determine nothing. Ergo, no study.

Is Sternglass a solitary crazy screaming from a rooftop? Apparently not. Dr. Irwin D. J. Bross, head of biological statistics at Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo (one would think he knows how to read statistics), testified at hearings that he didn't believe children should live within 15 miles of nukes. One child in ten has a heightened susceptibility to radiation — particularly, said Bross, the child born slightly underweight or having a history of respiratory illness.

Dr. Bross is stating a suspicion — not a conclusion — that a correlation seems to exist between nukes and increased illness. Is it true?

You could read a report put out by the National Academy of Sciences in Washington, D.C., titled "The Biological Effects of Ionizing Radiation," known as the BEIR Report (Nov. 1972). It costs $5 or $6.

Indian Point No. 1 is an operating reactor near Peekskill, N.Y. Within a mile and a half lie the towns of Buchanan, Montrose, and Verplanck — the densest population surrounding any operating nuke.

Indian Point executives have stated that during the time of its operation the quantities of radioactivity released into the environment have increased yearly.

A group of women made a house-to-house survey in the three towns. They found that among the young housewives (that is, people who stayed at home during the day) a remarkable number over a three-year period had died of cancer — breast, lung, cervical, etc. The survey suggests a correlation. Is there one?

Larry Bogart, knowing full well the survey could not be accorded scientific credence because the women were without credentials, was nevertheless impressed by it. He took the data to Irving Selikoff, Director of Environmental Studies at Mount Sinai Center in New York.

Selikoff examined the data and stated his belief that if a controlled study could be made, the results would be substantially the same.

One difficulty in determining the correlation concerns the devices used to monitor radioactive emissions. Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania held hearings at which, says Bogart, world-famous experts tried to determine the correlation between effects on health and radioactive emissions from the Shippingport reactor near Pittsburgh.

They concluded that the devices used to monitor plant emissions were inadequate, and found government regulatory agencies and the nuclear industry negligent in failing to develop adequate ones.

Strangely enough (or perhaps not so), Nature has produced a monitor that outperforms the devices developed so far by man. It is a plant called the spiderwort.

I know this sounds weird, but listen. In the presence of small amounts of ionizing radiation, the spiderwort undergoes genetic changes that are easy to discern. In Japan now, scientists "reading" the plant are recording about twice as much radiation from nuke plants as the official instruments are recording. (Anyone for spiderwort farming?)

Larry Bogart tells a story that would crack you up if it weren't true. He was on an official intervenor committee contesting Con Ed's claims concerning the safety of Indian Point No. 1.

Con Ed produced a witness who reeled off the wonders of Indian Point's monitoring operation with such finesse that the Board (Atomic Safety and Licensing) immediately requested a demonstration of this model system.

They all went to Indian Point and examined the monitors. There were two. One was so clogged with dirt kicked up by passing trucks that it didn't function at all.

The other, placed upwind of the plant and therefore out of the path of the prevailing air flow, operated erratically. Why? The electric plug that powered it kept falling out of the wall socket. Just kept falling out, over and over again.

But, said the witness, we have a back-up, a mobile monitor housed in a van truck. Seems it wasn't operating at the moment, because the company had decided to paint the van and had removed the monitoring equipment temporarily. Fine. Where was the equipment?

Well, the employee didn't know exactly, since after it was removed they had forgotten where they had stored it. But the Board could rest assured it was somewhere on the premises. You would have thought he was working in a toy factory.

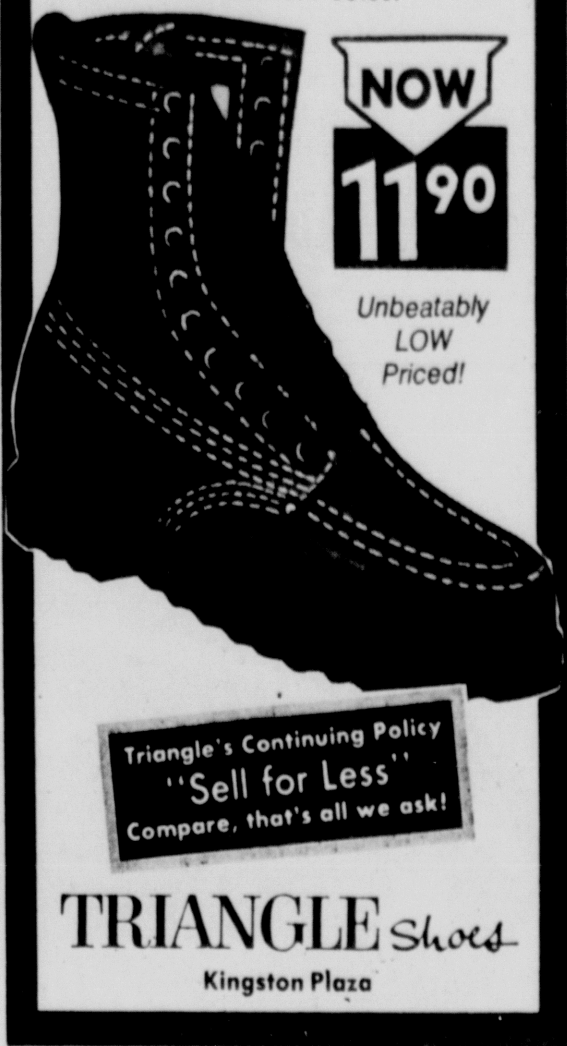

I'm beginning to be suspicious of the industry's emission figures.

Claims and counterclaims notwithstanding, it seems to me that the question of correlation between nukes and health should be answered before we allow nuclear power to proliferate.

I may be naive, but I still believe that we the people want to know the strength of a bridge before we cross it.

Cars Must Yield to Pedestrians

Dear Editor:
Automobiles MUST yield the right of way to pedestrians at traffic lights. My apologies! But maybe this new law should be advertized with a little more clarity. I am STILL watching pedestrians get cut off at the light.

The courtesy law is for ALL intersections and crosswalks whether they are by a traffic signal, a corner or in the middle of the block.

Nukes Are Too Costly

Dear Editor:
The discussion of nuclear power in your columns has overlooked two recent developments which make any additional nuclear plants wasteful and highly uneconomic.

For years the Atomic Energy Commission promoted nuclear power and spent billions for research and development in all phases of the technology. Every operation from the mining of uranium for nuclear fuel to the disposition of the radioactive wastes which are deadly dangerous for centuries, we were told, had been checked out. There was nothing for the public to be concerned about.

Now, however, the successor to the AEC, the Energy Research and Development Agency (ERDA), has admitted to Safe Power for Maine, that the boiling liquid radioactive wastes from commercial nuclear power plants has never been "stabilized," that is, reduced to a solid, like salt cake or glassy blocks so that it can be transported and stored somewhere for a quarter of a million years. The only wastes that have been so treated are the by-products from military plutonium production, which are 10 times less concentrated than commercial reactor wastes. Perhaps this accounts for the failure of any agency to do something about the 600,000 gallons of radioactive garbage left behind at West Valley, N.Y. when Getty stopped trying to reprocess "spent" reactor fuel in 1971.

The second development has to do with nuclear fuel, which many utilities boast is cheaper than coal or oil. Morgan G. Huntington, a Maryland engineer familiar with nuclear power operations, charges that commercial nuclear reactors are consuming three to 10 times more fuel than was originally estimated. The predictions about how many BTUs (heat units) would be obtained from a ton of uranium fuel were based on the performance of nuclear submarine propulsion reactors, according to Mr. Huntington.

Not only has the poor heat yield added enormously to the cost of nuclear energy, it is rapidly depleting scarce resources of uranium, making fuel suppliers renege on contracts and jumping the price of uranium fuel astronomically. Mr. Huntington is seeking to have Congress investigate why this situation has been covered up so long. He believes the electric utilities who bought this technology on the claims of the GE and Westinghouse reactor builders should be reimbursed for their extra fuel costs that has been passed on to consumers. The true costs, however, have not been felt yet.

Before New York State permits any further nuclear construction these two developments should be thoroughly probed. The license hearings for Cementon should be postponed until we have the facts.

100 Cable-TV Fans Sought in Woodland Valley

By BARBARA FALLON
Correspondent
SHANDAKEN — Cablevision will be installed in the Woodland Valley area if at least a hundred subscribers are found, according to what town attorney Martin Rubin said at this month's town board meeting.

Rubin also reported that all deposits already made for installation have been put in escrow until it is determined whether cablevision will be installed.

Also at the meeting, the board rejected assistance from the Agriculture Department for the Phenicia area, which has been declared a disaster area. The rejection came because the department's relief funds are almost exhausted. A motion was made and passed to investigate the possibility of obtaining a loan from the department, to be used to repair broken water pipes, fire hydrants, and other utilities damaged by ground frost.

There was some confusion over plans of Paul Dutcher of Shandaken to lease some land on Main Street between the Catholic Church and the old MacGrath house. Dutcher had submitted his plans to the zoning board, where they were discussed and acted upon in a workshop meeting. The plans were then sent to the town board to be passed. Councilman Philip Gordon said the plans must be approved at an open Zoning Board meeting and that it was illegal to pass the plans in a one that was closed. Rubin said it was not illegal to do this, but penalties might be incurred. The Town Board decided to pass the plans at the current meeting and to send them back to the zoning board so they can be presented at the open meeting on Feb. 23.

County Legislator Edward Ullman was present at the meeting to discuss the progress of the action that is being taken to eliminate the toll charge for telephone calls made between Phenicia and Kingston. Because of the toll charge it is costly for Phenicia residence to call the County Office Building which is located in Kingston. Ullman reported that Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey and others are working on legislation to abolish the charge.

Among other action:

- Paul Herdman, town clerk, announced that the contract for the demolition of the Feitzenger Bridge was awarded to Douglas Sanford of Cobleskill. He will receive $209 for the job.
- The highway superintendent's report was read. It requested that old equipment be replaced. Councilman Ruth Gordon made a resolution that a truck and a roller be purchased. The resolution was passed.
- Councilman Kai

Abrahamsen's resolution that all town vouchers be inspected and paid was passed.

- The Rev. Phillips motion that senior citizens receive a $6,500 tax deduction was defeated.
- It was announced that Mt. Tremper TV wants to raise the price of its cablevision franchise from $6.50 per month to $8.50 per month, because of increases in its operating costs.
- Councilman John Staiger recommended that land purchased for a landfill area and then found not to meet requirements be sold to State Conservation Department for $26,000; the area is about 87 acres.
- Plans for remodeling a room in the Town Hall, to be used by the Town Justice Department and as a second exit from the board room, were passed.

- James Quinn was commended for his services in the water situation in Phenicia, when some residents were without water because of broken pipes. A letter of thanks is to be sent to Quinn, the Town of Middletown and the fire department.
- Planning board officers, elected at the Jan. 12 meeting, were announced. They are: Robert Cruickshank, chairman; Justin McCarthy, vice-chairman; John Maguire, secretary; and Lawrence Bower, treasurer.

Police Probe Right-wing Group Ties of Self-Styled Nazi Killer

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (UPI) — Police digging into the past of Fred Cowan, a self-styled Nazi who killed five men and wounded five others in a shooting rampage, are investigating his membership in a right-wing extremist group.

Cowan's membership in the group was disclosed by Police Commissioner William Hegarty as detectives tried to learn more about Cowan, who took his own life during a 10-hour siege Monday at a moving company warehouse.

But Hegarty acknowledged that the investigation will not result in any guarantee against a repetition of such mass killings.

"I cannot control the behavior of every potential deviate in this city," Hegarty told a news conference. "This kind of activity can never be prevented in this kind of society."

Hegarty said Cowan, a hulking weightlifter and twice court-martialed Army veteran, "carried a membership card" in a group which "espoused" — like Cowan — "hatred of blacks and Jewish people."

Published reports identified the group as the National States' Rights Party.

Cowan's meager library included a book on German history in which the gunman wrote the note, "Nothing is lower than blacks and Jewish people, except the police department who protects them."

On Monday, Richard Flocks, one of Cowan's acquaintances, said Cowan "tried to give me a paper which was from the National States' Rights Party" and "kept talking about how much he hated Jews and blacks."

The party, based in Georgia, publishes a newsletter called "Thunderbolt," which has about 15,000 paid subscribers nationwide, according to the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

The unanswered questions about Cowan included how he obtained his huge inventory of weapons.

During the shooting spree, Cowan, 32, carried 60 pounds of weapons and ammunition, including an automatic rifle and four pistols, but that was only a small part of the arsenal he left in his attic bedroom. That included four muskets, eight bayonets, a semiautomatic .22-caliber rifle, 13 boxes of 8mm Mauser ammunition and two dummy hand grenades. "I can go on," Hegarty said, looking up from the inventory list.

The spark that made Cowan's hatred boil over appeared to be his anger over a two-week suspension from his job as a mover at Neptune Worldwide Moving Co. by Norman Bing, his dispatcher. Bing, who is Jewish, was Cowan's ultimate target.

Bing said he hid under a desk for three hours while Cowan kept more than 300 cops at bay. "If he had seen me I'd be dead," Bing said. He managed to flee the building without injury.

In the meantime, Cowan killed four of his co-workers — three black and the other a dark-skinned native of India — and a white police officer. Five other men were wounded. When police finally stormed the building at about 6 p.m. they found Cowan dead of a self-inflicted .45-caliber bullet wound in the temple.

$3M Refund Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission today ordered two big credit card companies, an oil company and two major department store chains to refund more than $3 million to consumers who have overpaid their bills.

Subject to the action were Diners' Club; Carte Blanche; the Atlantic Richfield Co.; City Stores Co. of New York and 10 of its subsidiaries; and Federated Department Stores Inc. of Cincinnati, and 15 of its affiliates including such big names as Bloomingdale's of New York, Filene's of Boston, I. Magnin of San Francisco and Burdine's of Miami.

The companies were accused of keeping on their books "substantial dollar amounts of credit balances which belonged to their customers but which had not been claimed by the customers or offset by purchases."

The complaints charged that the firms did not take sufficient steps to advise their customers that they were owed money.

Under consent orders signed with the companies, customers who had credit balances of more than $1 due them any time during the past three years will get the money back.

The money will be sent to the last known address of the customer and if the letter is returned the companies will try to trace the consumer through credit bureaus if amounts of more than $15 are involved.

It was the second time in less than a year that the FTC has acted against stores that failed to let customers know they had money coming.

Louis Bouche's "Summer of 1945" depicts himself and fellow artists at a cottage in the woods by Byrdcliffe.

Austin Mecklem's view of the Kingston railroad yard in 1934. This abstraction of a typically American scene was painted under a Public Works of Art Project commission.

Woodstock Art in Retrospect at Vassar College

By MARGERY MOSSMAN
Freeman staff

POUGHKEEPSIE—

While artists and non-artists alike run endless circles around the question: "Are there still any REAL artists left in Woodstock?", Vassar College has quietly gathered a compelling collection of works that represent the art colony from 1902 to the present.

The show, organized by Karal Ann Marling and her art history seminar students, will be at the Vassar Gallery until March 4.

The collection should be of special importance to younger art enthusiasts who have heard of, but never visually understood, the people and events that transformed Woodstock from a sleepy farm town to a "utopian" artists' colony and a popular summer tourist spot.

Hand-crafted and hand-painted furniture produced by the original Woodstock community of Byrdcliffe are the oldest items in the show. Like the first artists to work in Woodstock, the furniture is fairly conservative. Painted on the smooth wood panels are floral designs or light watercolor landscapes.

Furniture production did not last long, but the landscape motif was to determine the only constant in Woodstock's art even after the introduction of modernism. Over the years, fauvists, cubists and abstract artists found the countryside around Woodstock to be their most exciting subject. Even portraits of family and friends gave the artists the opportunity to paint vast landscapes in the background.

Those who were not depicting forests, lakes and waterfalls painted wide-angle views of the City of Kingston, with its crisscross of railroad tracks winding between industries housed on the banks of the Rondout River.

The Woodstock retrospective is a revealing exhibition. The paintings and sculptures have been arranged to show clearly how the artists were influenced by one another. Also obvious are the influences of the modernist movements taking place in New York City and Europe. In fact, in the 'teens, the '20's and the '30's, Woodstock was the most prominent modernist art colony in the country. Infighting among Woodstock's conservative and young, modern artists in the early 1900's was highly important to the entire modernist movement in the U.S.

Tucked away in Ulster County, the Woodstock colonists were very much aware of what was going on in the world beyond their mountains and trees. Some of their work has been a form of social protest, especially more recent pieces.

Other works were created under government grants and commissions during the late '30's and '40's, when the depression threatened to starve this country's once-thriving artistic communities. Conveniently, the Public Works of Art Project asked that artists use American scenery as their subject. The Woodstock artists, experts in local landscape images, easily took a proportionately high number of the government's commissions.

Vassar's exhibition includes sculptures of humans, animals, and abstract forms; paintings of buildings, people, and still life; furniture and photographs. But the majority of work, even those pieces done by artists today, takes as its subject the beautiful, haunting, even humorous countryside around Woodstock.

One current artist worth noting is a man who takes landscapes literally, Manuel Bromberg. His contribution to the exhibit is a painted, polyester mold of an actual section of a cliff. Observers can decide for themselves how far Bromberg has come from Byrdcliffe's peaceful watercolors.

A watercolor and pencil rendering of a Byrdcliff table, circa 1904.

Ecumenical Meeting Friday

KINGSTON—A unique gathering will take place at the Kingston Holiday Inn Friday, Feb. 18, 7:30 p.m., when Christians who desire to give glory to the Lord Jesus as their Head, will celebrate together and praise Him in an ecumenical meeting open to all denominations. In addition to Kingston, Christians will be coming from Saugerties, Woodstock, Tivoli, Rosendale, New Paltz and neighboring areas.

Although ecumenical meetings have increased in recent years, they have been sponsored in most part by various denominations or by groups of clergy. This week's meeting has grown from a desire among the people for a demonstration of unity. They have a "grass roots" yearning arising from a deep conviction that God wants his people to come together in a special way.

According to the leaders, man-made barriers which have fragmented the church for centuries are being broken down and people have matured in an understanding of how God is dealing with his church. The effects of the Pentecostal Renewal has been felt through all of Christianity.

Hustling for Charity

A marathon dance contest, featuring the hustle and other rock-disco music, had youngsters girating for hours at the Rosendale Youth Group's first annual Valentine Marathon Dance Friday night at the town recreation center. Robbin Geer and Kathy Morelli, although tied with two other couples still on their feet after four hours of continuous dancing, were named winners of the contest because "they were going the strongest at the end," according RYG president Michele DiDomenico. Proceeds will go to civic programs planned by the group.

FOOD MEMOS

Facts About Shortening

Louise K. Breitung
Cooperative Extension Agent
"Mammy's little baby loves short'nin', short'nin', mammy's little baby loves short'nin' bread." What is this short'nin'? Shortening, says Noah Webster, "is that which shortens pastry, cake, etc.; any fat for such use."

Biblical writings make frequent reference to "butter, fat, and oil." "His words were softer than oil" expresses the good reputation in which fats have been held since the earliest times. Vegetable shortenings did not figure in these early writings, for they are a product of our native land and of our times. Each country, at one time, depended on its own native fat supply, thus olive oil was widely used in Southern Europe for cooking. In the late 19th century, lard was the chief native cooking fat in the United States, followed in popularity by butter.

Lard always enjoyed restricted use, since the religious beliefs of some groups forbade it. Oils from the vegetable kingdom—cotton seed, soybeans, and others—came into use but they were in liquid form and people were in the habit of using a semi-solid fat such as lard. Scientists went to work on the liquid oils to convert them to fats, solid at room temperatures. As early as 1882, the files of the United States Patent Office contained records of trade marks for various types of compounds and substitutes, including pure vegetable shortenings. The first pure vegetable shortening appeared before the public in 1911. A fluid oil had been combined with hydrogen by a process known as hydrogenation. Similar to the popular lard, the new shortening was also tasteless, odorless, and had excellent keeping qualities.

Today's creamy white plastic shortenings represent great strides in the chemical and industrial fields. Agriculture has shared honors as cottonseed oil and soybean oil are refined and converted into these products in increasing amounts each year. Hydrogenation represented a big step in the development of the vegetable shortening industry. Improvements in vegetable shortenings have aided the home cook as well as the bakery trade.

SELECTION—Vegetable shortenings offer homemakers a variety of products with which they can cook, bake, and fry. The grocery shelf in most stores reveals:

Hydrogenated all-vegetable shortenings—Essentially these are solidified vegetable oils, primarily cottonseed oil and soybean oil. Varying amounts of other oils, such as corn and peanut, are sometimes used. The vegetable oils are refined, hydrogenated, bleached, deodorized, and plasticized (made into semi-solid, creamy fats) as a prelude to packaging, generally in 1- and 3-pound cans for the retail trade. Most of the hydrogenated all-vegetable shortenings today contain small amounts of mono- and di-glycerides which improve the over-all baking performance of the shortening. These glycerides lower the smoking point of a shortening, thus its frying properties may be affected. Hydrogenation is accompanied by the bubbling of hydrogen through liquid oils to change them to solid fats at ordinary room temperatures. This process also has a bleaching action on the fats which are somewhat colored and results in a white product, preferred by most consumers. It deodorizes them to give the bland flavor and odor desired for most cooking purposes.

Hydrogenated blended vegetable and animal shortenings—Being members of the compound shortening group, these products possess many of the same properties as hydrogenated all-vegetable shortenings and are made by a similar process. They contain hydrogenated animal fats (lard) and hydrogenated vegetable oils in varying amounts. The label indicates the ingredient which predominates by listing it first among the ingredients. Recently, B-carotene has been added to one such product to give it a yellow color. The finished shortening usually contains mono- and di-glycerides, as well as a small amount of added antioxidant.

Compound shortenings—These shortenings may be made by mixing all-vegetable fats which are highly hydrogenated vegetable oils. They may also be a combination of all-animal fats or a mixture of hard animal and unhydrogenated vegetable fats. Compound shortenings, formerly the leader among shortenings, have been replaced largely by all-vegetable products in recent years.

Shoppers will notice that some salad oils are marketed as liquid shortenings. This term does not indicate a change in the oil itself, but refers to the shortening uses which can be made of the oils.

The shortening shopper relies on the manufacturer for a quality product. Packed in vacuum sealed cans, the characteristics of the shortening are not seen until the package is opened for use. Shortenings generally have uniform quality. Hydrogenated all-vegetable shortenings of good quality should have: Good keeping quality without refrigeration; characteristic bland flavor and odor; creamy white color; plastic consistency and smooth texture.

The amount to buy at one time is determined by the use you will make of the product, the needs of the family, suitable storage space, and the possible saving due to quantity purchases. If a shortening is used for many purposes in your home, you may find the 3-pound can economical. The savings made by purchasing it rather than three 1-pound cans can be considerable. Here you can save as much as 56 cents when you buy the 3-pound can rather than three 1-pound cans, as revealed in a retail store in the Kingston area.

One pound of hydrogenated vegetable shortening measures 2 1/2 cups. Vegetable shortening should be measured accurately in baking for best results. To measure less than 1 cup of shortening, pour cold water (the amount being the difference called for in a recipe and 1 cup) into measuring cup and add shortening until water reaches the top of the cup. For example if 1/4 cup shortening is desired, pour 3/4 cup cold water into cup, add shortening until water reaches top, and pour off water before using. When recipe requires hydrogenated fat, do not substitute another type.

USE—Rich chocolate cake, hot biscuits, apple pie, golden fried chicken...each of these foods relates to shortening. Shortening may make a cake or biscuit tender, a pastry flaky, and a crust on fried chicken crisp.

Vegetable shortenings are used mainly as an ingredient in foods which we eat. Unlike some fats, they are not used as a spread. In cooking, shortenings play important roles. They make tender baked products such as pastry, cakes, biscuits; serve as a frying medium for meats, fish, doughnuts, and other foods; affect the texture and nutritive value of foods in which they are used; act as a carrier of flavor in combination foods and enhance the flavor of most foods.

DEAR ABBY

Worker Names Baby After Boss

DEAR ABBY: What would your reaction be if a young woman who worked for your husband named her baby after him? Well, that's my problem, and I'm still upset about it.

This girl has worked for my husband for about two years. She's only 22, but that's old enough to know better. I wonder what her husband thinks? It seems to me that they could have found someone in his or her family to name their baby after.

We were invited to the christening. My husband went, but I said I had a headache and stayed home. I might add that my husband felt "honored," and he boasted to several of our friends that a woman in his office named her baby after him.

What do you think this foolish girl had in mind? Was she trying to make Brownie points with her boss? Or trying to obligate him so he'd give her baby a more expensive present?—THE BOSS'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It's possible that the young couple named their baby after your husband because they respect and admire him—and for no other reason. Why assume that there's an ulterior motive? There may be none.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 10-year-old girl with a big problem. It's Sinbad, my kitten. He isn't even a year old and he keeps running off to be with a girl cat. What can I do?

I treat him nice, but since he met this girl cat he's hardly ever home. He comes home when it rains, but he just sits on the porch and won't even look at me, and when it stops raining, he is off again.

How can I keep Sinbad home?—MISS A. M.

TALBOTT: FOUNTAIN, N.C.

DEAR MISS TALBOTT: You could keep Sinbad fenced in, but you'd have a very angry and frustrated cat on your hands. (How would YOU like to be "fenced in" so you couldn't mingle with boys during your teen years?)

DEAR ABBY: We are just ordinary people. My husband has a 9 to 5 job and I am only a housewife. We have been married for 10 years and in all that time we have never gone anywhere without taking our children. (We have three.) I have never had one night away from home except those few when I went to the hospital to have another baby.

We have never hired a sitter. Never needed one. My husband said the children grow up so fast we should enjoy every moment we can with them. I love my children, Abby, but don't you think I deserve a night out without the children just once a year?—STALE MATE

DEAR MATE: Your husband forgets that you "enjoy" your children all day, every day when he is at work. Remind him. You not only "deserve" an occasional night out, you NEED one.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope.

ERMA BOMBECK

Be Nice; I Have a Voodoo Doll

Cindi Jensen suggested in a recent column in the Whettersfield (Conn.) Post that the world was ready for an Erma Bombek doll. This would be a believable replica of a housewife with "lumps in all the wrong places, an oversized sweatshirt covered with paint, and gray roots in her hair."

Naturally, I'm flattered, but face it, Cindi—I can't compete with Barbie's 2½-inch bust, Cher's concave stomach and the Bionic Woman's fingernails which open a can of tuna in two seconds flat.

Besides, I just received a doll that could not only replace my encounter group, it should be in every kitchen in America. It's a Voodoo doll. It stands about nine inches high, has a nondescript face and a few strings of black yarn for hair. Printed over its entire body are cures and curses (depending on your assets) which can be enhanced by white pins (for the cures) and black pins (for the spells).

Listed on the female doll are areas such as migraine, tennis elbow, droopy panty hose, split ends, double chin, hairy legs, yellow teeth and flat chest.

The male counterpart has bullseyes clearly marked for athlete's foot, trick knees, varicose veins, pot belly, gas, loose dentures, broken zippers and ring-around-the-collar.

The doll was sitting on my countertop when Mayva came in for coffee the other morning. "Who does this belong to?" she asked.

"Me."

Free Tax Help For Senior Citizens

RHINEBECK—Mrs. Edith L. Burnett, a volunteer experienced income tax assistant who has recently completed a series of training sessions in income tax preparation in Newburgh under the joint sponsorship of the Internal Revenue Service and the National American Association of Retired Persons, will be available for income tax consultation at the Rhinebeck Town Hall from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. each Monday and Friday. Any elderly person from Rhinebeck and vicinity may go to Mrs. Burnett in the town hall and receive help without charge.

Arrangements for the assistance have been made through the Rhinebeck Chapter AARP. Mrs. Burnett was introduced at a recent chapter meeting by Fred Ruehle, vice president. Ruehle emphasized that membership in AARP is not required of those who seek Mrs. Burnett's assistance. It is essential that the taxpayers take all information needed to complete their tax returns when they go for assistance. Appointments will not be necessary.

Other matters presented at the meeting included a statement by Marcy Montagna, a member of the chapter's committee on legislation. He outlined the basic provisions of the New York State Assembly Bill 9216-A which provides for a graduated scale of taxes on real estate. The members present approved a motion instructing the secretary, Mrs. Goldie Unson, to address a letter to Assemblyman Emeel Betros in Albany requesting him to support the measure. A similar bill has already been passed by the State Senate.

The next meeting of the Rhinebeck AARP chapter is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, March 9, 1 p.m. at the town hall. Following a short business meeting, cards and table games will be played.

PONYU Affiliation With NCEE Planned

ROSENDALE—Members of the executive board of Parents of New York United, PONYU, met in Rosendale recently to plan affiliation with the National Congress of Educational Excellence, NCEE. The NCEE has a main goal, excellence in traditional education. The by-laws were examined and a resolution was unanimously passed to affiliate with NCEE. It was agreed that this move provides the organization with a stronger and broader base and that henceforth the organization would be known as NCEE, Ulster County. It was further resolved that every meeting would be opened with a prayer and pledge of allegiance.

Officers are Leola Tobin, chairman, Ulster County; Barbara Patrick, chairman, Kingston Chapter; Rosemary Odell, treasurer; Lillian Laughlin, secretary.

Catskills Hearing Slated

STONE RIDGE—Proposals to establish a commission for development of the Catskill region's economy and land resources will be the topic of a public hearing March 5 at Ulster County Community College.

The proposals, drawn up by the Department of Environmental Conservation and incorporated in Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey's 1976 Bill 12163A, follow years of study and legislative effort to establish a Catskill commission.

The hearing, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. in Room 420, is one of five being held around the region.

Those wishing to speak should contact Edward M. Somers, committee staff director, Legislative Office Building, Room 625, Albany, N.Y. 12248. Speakers are asked to provide 10 copies of their prepared statements. Hurley Bicentennial.

The commission reports that a plaque, to be installed in front of Kingston Trust's Hurley office, has been ordered and is expected to be ready for dedication on Memorial Day.

Plans are also being made by the commission for a celebration on the weekend of Oct. 15 and 16, to commemorate the burning of Kingston in 1777.

ROCHESTER: High Insurance Costs Concern Board

ACCORD—The high cost of liability insurance for town-owned land known as Project 32 was discussed by the Rochester Town Board at its regular business meeting this month.

The town has been unable to use this property, which was bought prior to 1962 with the intention of making it a town park or recreation area, because the deed does not clearly set forth ownership boundaries.

The board proposes to "find out exactly what we do own," according to Supervisor Vincent Dunn, and then make a decision either to sell the land or use it for its original purpose.

The rezoning of Rt. 209, to increase the business area, was also discussed. It was decided by the board that the zoning board, board of assessors, and other pertinent boards should hold a joint meeting with the town board so each is aware of the progress, problems and obstacles involved.

The board voted to pass a proposed resolution received from the Town of Woodstock asking that Civil Service recognize Town appointed constables as peace officers.

In other action the board:

- Paid bills.
- Heard Eileen Baker, town clerk, report that $482,229 was collected in taxes.

- Made it known that there will be a vacancy on the zoning board of appeals in April and are still two vacancies on the planning board.

- Appointed Pat Burton secretary to the highway superintendent, at a salary of $2.30 per hour, not to exceed $1000 per year.

- Approved publication of an advertisement for bids on a heavy-duty, all-wheel drive truck for the highway department when the specifications are available.

- Appointed Suzy Kelsey assistant to the dog warden, at no additional cost to the town, at the request of Dog Warden Charles Kelsey.

- Approved the permit of Indian Valley Sanitation to use the landfill.
- Heard Justice Harold Lipton note that the five-year option to purchase 30 additional acres for the landfill at $1500 per acre will be coming up soon.

- Was told that arrangements have been made for board members wishing to attend the Association of Towns meeting in New York this month.

Medi-Conscience..a Backup Doctor Who Makes Calls at Home

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Dr. Charles R. Lepley has no office and no patients of his own. But he works until midnight and has begun what at times must seem like a lonely campaign to restructure the relationship between doctors and the persons they serve.

Lepley is the one-man staff of Medi-Conscience, a firm he set up last November to make house and office calls and act as backup physician for patients who need a doctor when and where they could not usually expect to find one.

Lepley's philosophy goes far beyond the usual jokes about doctors not making house calls or not getting sick on Wednesday unless you're at the doctor's country club.

He named his firm Medi-Conscience because he considers himself an ombudsman for the health care profession, not overseeing the work of other doctors but trying to provide badly needed service.

"What I'm doing is a private effort to close some gaps," Lepley said in an interview. "I'm one individual who feels it is possible for persons in any field to say, okay, here's a problem, let's attack it."

"I don't think we should turn to government and hold out our hands and ask for something," he added. "Let's do something about it ourselves."

Lepley usually works from 4 p.m. to midnight weekdays and noon to midnight weekends and holidays, hours when a patient is unlikely to find a personal physician available. The cases he handles usually range between acute and emergency.

"In some instances, such as a child running a high fever, a mother may not be able to get in touch with a pediatrician," he said.

"A woman may cut herself paring potatoes, and it would really break up the family routine to pack the whole family in the car or for the father to find a babysitter so he could drive his wife to the hospital."

"There are really a lot of cases where the patient isn't about to die or in a dire emergency," he said, "but it would be best if the physician could come to the home."

Lepley also hopes his service will be popular with busy executives with chronic health problems. Such patients need regular treatment, and are under the care of a personal physician, but often cannot make appointments during regular office hours.

Lepley stressed that he is not taking patients away from their own doctors. He is not building a practice of his own. He provides written reports to the regular physicians of all the patients he sees.

He set up his service after graduating from medical school in 1975 and serving a year in a rotating internship. He lives in nearby Granite City, Ill., with his wife, who is also a doctor. He limits his practice to St. Louis city and county.

An assistant answers the telephone at Medi-Conscience headquarters and relays calls.

Prospective patients learn of the service through word of mouth or by referral, often from area medical societies. Lepley says they have encouraged his work.

He said other physicians welcome the service because they are glad to know someone is available to backstop them when their obligations prevent them from taking patient calls.

Lepley hopes patients will come to realize there are private sources of aid such as his, and not automatically think that tax money should be used to find such help and pay the bills.

"I feel the role of government in medicine should be supportive, not directive," he said. "It should be an encouraging role, to start something, then back out when they are going well."

"Too many persons look to government for help," he said, "but when the government gets involved, the very same persons who wanted a helping hand then turn around and complain about government involvement and restrictions. I don't think you can have both."

Leary Looks to Space

By UPI

Dr. Timothy Leary, controversial drug cultist of the 1960s, has joined the space colonization movement of the 1970s.

"I think space migration is a natural and inevitable outcome of the consciousness movement of the 1960s," Leary said at a news conference in Washington following a weekend meeting of space enthusiasts.

"Let's face it," he said, "consciousness expansion with the use of drugs was a kind of scary thing."

Leary, one-time Harvard psychology lecturer, was convicted in 1969 on a California charge of possessing marijuana and was sentenced to six months to 10 years. He also was sentenced in 1970 to 10 years in prison on federal charges of transporting and importing marijuana into the United States from Mexico.

He began serving the state sentence in March 1970, but escaped from the San Luis Obispo prison six months later.

Leary was apprehended in Afghanistan and returned to California in 1973. He became eligible for parole in 1975 and was paroled last June after spending a total of 44 months in prison for the federal and state charges.

During the past four months, Leary said, he has lectured in 27 communities and has sensed "a readiness on the part of the young people in the country for migration in space."

"Let's face the economic reality," he said. "This country cannot have full employment or establish a growth economy without war or a national commitment to space development."

Leary said also that space immigration will become necessary because Earth is being overpopulated.

"The planet is a nesting place and we're going to be squeezed out of the nest."

To "change America's consciousness about space," Leary said he is volunteering his knowledge and energy to the space effort. He said he is beginning a campaign to promote space and plans to deliver lectures and write on the subject.

He is based in Hollywood, which he called "the consciousness capital of America."

Three New Franchises

HVRL Expands to 12

KINGSTON — The Hudson Valley Rookie League has announced plans to realign its division for the 1977 baseball season.

The league has added its membership roles to from ten to 12 teams with Highland and Goshen joining as new entries and Middletown returning after a four-year absence.

The Marlboro franchise has dropped out of the loop after a three-year stay. Its players have been released, but for the period of one year, the franchise is still in control of a group headed by Vin Mannese.

With the new list of teams came a divisional realignment.

The Northern Division will now consist of defending league champion Kingston Braves, Poughkeepsie Lasers, Wappingers Ions, New Paltz Falcons, Highland and the Newburgh Nuclears, the latter switching from the south to take Marlboro's place.

The Southern Division will field the Newburgh Atoms, New Windsor Rockets, Monroe-Woodbury Crusaders, Pine Bush Stars, the Middletown Elks and Goshen.

Northern Division teams will play a 23-game schedule beginning in June. Southern Division clubs will play a 21-game schedule.

Joe Tarrallo of Newburgh has been elected commissioner of the league.

His aide will be Nick Boonstra of Beacon.

Vin Mannese of Marlboro is secretary, Sal Ciacio of Newburgh treasurer, Boonstra statistician-publicity, and Tarrallo supervisor of umpires.

Bill Lynch of Wappingers is president of the Northern Division. John Alley of Poughkeepsie is secretary. Southern boss is Jim Tarravella of Southport. Larry Hannan of Monroe-Woodbury is vice-president.

Kingston Braves general manager Fred Davi will head the banquet committee with John Alley of Poughkeepsie and Charlie Savago of New Paltz assisting.

All-star game responsibilities will be under the direction of Kingston player-manager Jerry Hawkins. Bill Lynch, Jr., of Wappingers and John Alley of Poughkeepsie will assist.

This year's banquet and all-star game will be held in Kingston. The former will take place prior to the start of the season in early June, the latter at Dietz Stadium in July.

The banquet will honor the 17 winners of last season's major awards.

Schedules for the 1977 season will be drawn at a league meeting Feb. 20.

Sorting Out the Playoff Situation

KINGSTON—Despite some momentary confusion on the part of at least two Dutchess County Scholastic League varsity basketball coaches, the league's new playoff picture came into focus this morning.

The unprecedented schedule called for the teams from Division I to meet their counterparts in the Division II standings. With the exception of the championship and runnerup games, which will be played at Dutchess Community College, other contests would take place on the floor of the team which was the visitor in the regular season meeting between the schools.

Thus on Thursday night, Lourdes visits Ketcham in the matchup of fifth-placers, Spackenkill comes to Kingston in the fourth-place battle, and Saugerties pays a call on Roosevelt in the third-place tilt.

The playoffs will be climaxed Friday night with the top teams meeting at Dutchess. Beacon will take on Arlington at 6:30 p.m. and John Jay will battle Poughkeepsie at 8 p.m. for the overall first place.

The confusion arose after Kingston beat Roosevelt, 69-45, Tuesday night. That left the teams in a tie for third place, both with 7-3 records. Since the teams had split their two regular season games, a flip of the coin was utilized to settle the playoff position, as had been approved by DCSL athletic directors.

Roosevelt coach Roy Barnum and KHS' Mike Kitch immediately settled the flip in the office of Kingston athletic director Bill Hurley, who also serves as chairman of the DCSL's Mid-Hudson Conference. Also present was KHS principal Dan Allen. When FDR won the toss, it placed third and earned a home court game against Saugerties. Kingston dropped to fourth to play at home against Spackenkill.

The confused coaches were Bob Stauderman of Poughkeepsie and Dick Colavita of Saugerties.

Until Stauderman conferred with Hurley this morning, he had believed that the minutes of a DCSL meeting provided for the difference in total points in head-to-head games between the tied teams would settle matters.

Colavita wasn't sure what procedure was to be followed.

"It was my understanding that if two teams were tied, they'd go first by results of head-to-head play, then by point differential," he said. "Now I know it's by the coin toss. We were looking up the minutes of meetings but couldn't find anything. Nobody seemed to know."

Hurley noted that the athletic directors, at their Jan. 26 meeting, rejected the point differential method because of the possible temptation for a team to run up the score if it knew it needed the points.

With that settled and all hands apparently satisfied, the league will forge ahead with its playoffs beginning Thursday night.

Kingston Gets Its Act Together

By STEVE KANE

KINGSTON — The Kingston High basketball team didn't play like the .500 club they were going into Tuesday night's Field House finale against Roosevelt. No, they whipped the Presidents 65-49, in playing more like a .667 club—which is exactly what they've been for the last 11 games.

"We're respectable now," said an almost gleeful KHS coach Mike Rienzo afterwards. "We've won seven of our last 11. We've played good defense our last two games, and we're starting to do things right."

The Kingston defense was something else in the first half. Ron Mapes and Bob Easter each did a quarter of work on Roosevelt's Jerome Smith and succeeded in taking him right out of the ballgame. Underneath, Larry Walkowski and Clark Waters stopped FDR's 6-6 center Craig Douglas cold. At halftime, Roosevelt had scored just 14 points.

The Tigers had a few lapses in the third period, but because they hadn't scored that much either in the first half the Presidents at one point did manage to struggle back to within five of the lead. That was about all the scare Kingston got. Jim Brown hit two from downtown, KHS surged back in front by nine, and the Presidents faded away.

"That Brown is something," said Rienzo. "He's quiet all night, then all of a sudden, boom-boom."

There weren't any bad Tiger performances in this one, and there were a couple of excellent ones. Darrell Mills was dazzling as he finished out his regular season career with a team high 18 points. Walkowski was also impressive. When he sat down in the second quarter he took the Kingston offense with him. That's why the Tigers dominated the period yet only managed to outscore FDR eight to four.

It was the way KHS had controlled Roosevelt that made the ten-point halftime differential seem greater than it really was. Rienzo said he was concentrating his defense in certain places and letting other shooters go, so Rick Horton dumped in enough to keep the losers alive. With Smith and Douglas neutralized, though, FDR wasn't clicking. To make matters worse a lot of the good Roosevelt shots thrown up bounced out of the hole anyway.

Roosevelt put its press to work in earnest in the second half hoping to loosen things up. It succeeded to a degree. Scott Devine went right up the lane for a couple of layups, Horton kept hitting, and the Presidents seemed to be getting better position. But it loosened the Tigers up too. Kingston started running. Clark Waters, Walkowski and Jay

Jay Clinches Division I

Poor Start Hurt SHS

WICOPEE — Saugerties High suffered through a miserable first half of basketball here Tuesday night and with it lost any chance to end the regular Dutchess County Scholastic League season with an upset of Division I champion John Jay.

The Patriots wrapped up their title with an 89-61 win. It was a necessary victory for John Jay because second place Arlington also won its finale, 73-56, over Ketcham to stay one game out of first.

"We played well in the third quarter," said Sawyer coach Dick Colavita, "but the game was really over in the first half. They outkicked us and outshot us. It was the worst we'd played since Hudson back in the preseason."

The Sawyers lost their grip on things late in the first quarter. The game was close at first, but John Jay spurred to a ten-point lead to take control. In the second quarter the downhill slide continued, and the losers went into the locker room staring at a 49-25 deficit.

Colavita tried to light a fire for the second half. His squad did manage to reverse itself and outplay the Pats for a while, but it wasn't enough. "We cut it to 15 in the second half," related Colavita, "but John Jay's just too good a team to shake loose from a lead like that."

Tim Cole and Marc Becker scored 18 points each for Saugerties. Chris Swech and Steve Schaeffer also reached double figures, but it wasn't the Sawyers' night for offense. Collectively, they managed to hit just 24 of 80 attempts from the field—30 percent.

Center Bill Beausoleil dumped in 21, and guard Steve Yellen hit 19 for the Patriots. The winners shot the ball at almost a 50 percent clip.

Foust threw the outlets, and Mills, Brown and Easter did the rest. The ten-point lead stayed intact.

Right at the start of the fourth quarter Roosevelt made its move. A lone foul shot by Devine cut the gap to 44-39. Brown launched his bombs, one from the corner and one from outside the key, right after that to ease the Tigers away from danger.

Kingston smothered the win convincingly as the clock hit the one minute mark. The Tigers ripped off three straight fast breaks just seconds apart. Walkowski hustled downcourt to follow up two of them, and in between Mills put on a show with a whirling lullaby.

It was a solid performance just about all the way around by Kingston. The Tiger antics near the end of the half were questionable though. Roosevelt was in a zone, and Kingston was in a four corners with a big lead. KHS could have forced the Presidents out of their little box, but they kept whipping the ball around and firing off 20-footers anyway.

"Listen," said Rienzo like he'd been through it a hundred times before, "they can't hold it. They can't sit still. These kids have got ants in their pants."

Foust had 14 and Walkowski 12 to augment Kingston's scoring. Horton finished with 17 for Roosevelt. Smith, who had 15 against the Tigers the first time around, had to work hard to force in eight points.

Coleman Girls Just Couldn't Stop Mosher

By BRUCE GOLDBERG

Freeman staff

RED HOOK—Kelly Mosher, Kelly Mosher, if only we could shoot a basketball as you do, we'd be in these stories instead of writing them. Your 29 points, almost all of them from inside the key, led your Red Hook High girls basketball team to an important 55-42 victory over Coleman Tuesday night.

That win kept the Raiders unbeaten in the UCAL at 8-0 and undefeated in their last 35 league games over three seasons. Coleman fell to 5-2 but both squads still lead their respective divisions.

It was supposed to have been THE game of the season, but some of the luster was rubbed off when Onteora beat Coleman last week. Coleman coach Deb Getty had scouted Red Hook and knew her girls would be in for a tough battle.

"We just couldn't stop Mosher inside," summed up Getty. "What can I say? She played really well."

Mosher, the top scorer in the league last season and the one who led the Raiders to the Section Nine title as a sophomore, played the inside game to perfection Tuesday night, breaking inside the Coleman zone defense to receive passes from various teammates which she converted into easy chip baskets. In scoring over half of her team's points, including 20 in the first half, she was the main reason for the Raiders' victory.

But she wasn't the only reason. The excellent rebounding of Sandy Stash Raiders to break free for clear shots of various distances.

"Mosher is by far the best player in the UCAL," said Red Hook coach John Kuhn after the game. "She is a team player, will play both offense and defense, can handle the ball and can score. She won a Section Nine title for us two years ago. She was off her game a little tonight because she and Pat Kowalski, especially in the first half, was a major factor. The Red Hook girls also played a tight zone defense which forced Coleman to take mainly outside shots until the latter stages of the first half when Janet Knott went to work.

But the most outstanding feature of this Red Hook team is its quickness. On defense, it allowed one girl to play head on against Coleman's ballhandler while the rest of the team stayed in its zone. When the ball was passed, another Red Hook defender would take the ballhandler and the first Raider would go back into the zone.

On offense, this quickness in both passing and movement enabled the was a little nervous. We videotaped the game to help her get a scholarship. She made more turnovers than she usually does."

After taking a 15-12 first quarter lead, Red Hook put away the game for all intents in the second quarter with a 15-6 burst, with 13 of those points by Mosher. Coleman was plagued by cold shooting all game and failed to convert several breakaways in the second period. Knott tried to keep her team in the game, working her way inside and shooting from almost under the bucket like Mosher, but she couldn't do it alone.

Red Hook outscored its visitors by just one point in the second half, 25-24. Foul problems also cut into Coleman's seven-woman squad.

Knott had four and Kathy Mahoney and Kathy Blum three each before the third quarter.

Denise Sevigny and Ellen Tuohy each added 11 for the Raiders. Knott led Coleman with 17, Mahoney had 12 with her amazing one-handed push shot, and Kathy Turk added 11. Blum proved herself an adept ballhandler and she and her teammates never stopped hustling, even when the game was decided. They dove for loose balls, they battled for rebounds, and they stole the ball more than did Red Hook.

"We get psyched for Coleman every year," said Kuhn. "You know, all their girls played CYO ball since the sixth grade. I get mine for the first time in ninth grade. Now, for the first time ever, all my players are offensive threats. The same is true for Coleman."

There seems little to stop Red Hook from going undefeated this time around.

"Walkill, Pine Bush and Onteora—in that order," said Kuhn about his biggest challenges. "If someone puts us away, it'll be one of those three." Box on page 20.

Onteora Girls Capture Section Nine Title

WOODRIDGE — The Onteora High School girls skied to the Section Nine team championship here Tuesday, beating out runnerup Middletown with a strong performance in the slalom.

Karen Modjeska of OCS was the individual giant slalom winner and the runnerup in the combined standings to Middletown's Tammy Warner. Warner, the defending sectional and state champion, also won the slalom race.

Onteora totaled 279.64 to Middletown's 281.49 in the team derby. Monticello was three seconds back in third place followed by Monroe-Woodbury, New Paltz, Fallsburgh and Liberty.

The GS was the first competition of the day, and though Modjeska topped the pack with a time of 34.32 seconds to Warner's 34.60, the Indians left the slope in third place. Monticello had the lead at the half-way point with 143.81 with Middletown at 144.76 and OCS at 105.90.

Barbara Sheehan and Sandy Jennings joined Modjeska in the top ten for the slalom race to help vault Onteora out in front. Modjeska took third, Sheehan was fourth and Jennings was sixth.

"That where our slalom experience came out," said OCS coach Joel Tomson. "In the UCAL (Ulster County Athletic League) we ski strictly slalom. In the Orange County League they do half slalom and half GS."

Middletown got a boost from Warner's sister, Kim, an eighth grader who was third in GS, second in slalom and third in combined. Sue Rhulen of Monticello was fourth overall with Sheehan of OCS taking fifth. Fallsburgh's Kathy Dill, a sixth place finisher in the combined, and Jennings, who was ninth overall, were the other top finishers from the UCAL.

Dill was fifth in the slalom and seventh in the GS. New Paltz's Debbie Buck placed tenth in the slalom event.

The top ten finishers qualified for the state competition which will be held in Lake Placid this month. There were 110 competitors from 15 schools in the racing.

Marlboro Needs Win Against Old Rival

KINGSTON—There'll be one heck of a gut check down at Highland High tonight when Marlboro pays a visit in an important Ulster County Athletic League basketball game.

The full UCAL schedule also includes Fallsburgh at Ellenville, Wallkill at Red Hook, Coleman at Liberty, New Paltz at Rondout and Onteora at Pine Bush.

Things have gotten rough lately for the Dukes, who have dropped two of three, including Monday night's startling, 75-55, loss to Red Hook, winners of nine straight and Division II champion. The Dukes, once 10-0, looked like shoe-ins for the Division I title, but anything can happen over the final three games.

Marlboro still leads Division I at 11-2, but only one game back are Fallsburgh and Liberty, both 10-3. And Highland, losers of three straight, is now playing just for pride at 8-5 but would love nothing better than to knock off its neighborhood rival tonight.

The Division I race is interesting because Fallsburgh appears hot and Liberty lukewarm. The Comets have dumped the Dukes and Highland in their last two games after a stunning upset loss to Coleman, while Liberty has won three straight close games.

Red Hook, meanwhile, is the surprise team of the league. Having already wrapped up its half of the UCAL pennant, it will play host to the second-place Panthers, an always dangerous team.

New Paltz, fresh off its first win in ages, a victory over non-league foe Spackenkill Saturday, now seeks its first league victory when it visits Rondout. Onteora and Pine Bush matches 4-9 teams.

Coleman, a team that has shown it cannot be taken lightly for even a moment, pays a visit to Liberty. The Indians won their first meeting, 65-53, in a game closer than the final score would indicate, back on Jan. 27.

Kingston Takes Second After Beating FDR Girls

HYDE PARK—Defense was once again the keynote for the Kingston High School girls basketball team Tuesday evening as it wound up its Dutchess County Scholastic League schedule with a 41-32 defeat of Roosevelt.

The Tiger girls finished with a 12-1 record, good for second place and one game behind Poughkeepsie. The Pioneers completed their second straight unbeaten campaign with a 54-17 whipping of Spackenkill. In other games, Lourdes bested Beacon, 65-41, and Saugerties bounced John Jay, 71-28.

"We had a pretty good defensive game," said KHS coach Pat Burke. "We've given up just 52 points in our last two games."

"We clinched second place and looked good as far as seedings for the sectional tournament," she added.

Kingston had a small lead, 19-16, at halftime, but hot shooting in the third quarter put them ahead, 33-26, after three, and it had the game wrapped up.

"Roosevelt completely negated our fast break," said Burke, "and that's our main weapon. So instead, our kids were setting up on offense. We were getting the good shot in the third quarter."

Ertha Burris led KHS with 20 points and had three steals and Lynette Byrd contributed 12 points and four steals. Julie Chavis was awesome under the boards, pulling down 24 rebounds, and Lori Eaton was next with seven.

Liz Irwin paced Roosevelt with 14 points.

Kingston will face two Ulster County Athletic League teams before the month is out. Both games will be at the George Washington School, with Onteora visiting on the 25th and Coleman coming on the 28th.

Sawyers Rout Jay

SAUGERTIES—For one of the few times this season, the girls basketball team at Saugerties High was able to look its opponents right in the eye when John Jay came calling Tuesday evening. The Sawyers used their quickness to run off a 71-28 victory in Dutchess County Scholastic League play.

Saugerties' team averages about 5-foot-6 and John Jay "did not have anybody exceptionally tall," according to SHS coach Kathy Lund. "We had a lot of fast breaks, good passing and good defense."

"In fact, we played one of our better games of the season," Lund added. "We worked together."

Saugerties wound up its DCSL schedule with a 7-6 mark, good for fifth place. John Jay is 2-8, eighth for now.

Shelly Pfeil, who has averaged almost 19 points per game, hit for a game high 31 points for the Sawyers. Peggy Hain more than doubled her season average with 27 points as she and Pfeil accounted for more than 80 per cent of the Sawyers' points.

Wilda Okan and Denise Bell each had eight to lead John Jay.

The victors put together a 19-6 first quarter scoring edge and expanded it to 37-16 by halftime. They poured it on in the second half with a 34-12 blitz.

UCCC Faces Kings Varsity, Not JV A Surprise for Ulster

BRIARCLIFF MANOR—Pat McLean got an unpleasant surprise when her Ulster County Community College women's basketball team paid a call on Kings College Tuesday night. The Senators wound up facing the varsity instead of the jayvees, and lost, 47-39.

UCCC had defeated the junior varsity, 51-50, on Jan. 27, its first of just two victories this season. The other win came Monday night against Delhi, another one-point decision.

"I was disappointed it was not a total jayvee team," said McLean. "They're a four year school and had older kids in against us. Coming off of the win Monday night and expecting to play the Kings jayvee, we may have been expecting an easy win."

Ulster was still in the game until the final 90 seconds, tied at 36-all. But Kings applied a devastating press, forced numerous Senator turnovers, and outscored the visitors, 11-3, down the stretch.

Lori Quilty led Ulster with 13 points and Cheryl Cifello added 12 points and 13 rebounds. Dorian Kruse had 14 caroms. Kelly and Hess led Kings with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

Ulster is 2-13 and visits Orange Thursday.

Indians Gain Tie for First Rhinebeck Earns 6th Straight

MILLBROOK — Rhinebeck High's basketball team raced to its sixth straight victory Tuesday night, 79-64 over homestanding Millbrook, and with that win the streaking Indians moved into a first place tie in the Bi-Valley Conference with Pine Plains.

"We got right up on them," said winning coach Bob Ahlin. "We had our fast break going well, and we pressed them and caused a lot of turnovers."

Forty-eight points is a lot for the first half, but we shot 22 of 38, mostly on layups."

Jim Farriello and Bill Sailer keyed the breaks with strong rebounding. Farriello had a dozen for the game, mostly in that first half, and Sailer pulled down eight.

"Sailer also had nine steals. It was one of the best games he's played for us," noted Ahlin.

John Ohan led the Rhinebeck scorers with 20 points, but he had lots of help. Farriello added 19, and Sailer and Steve Sherman each threw in 13.

Millbrook was behind by 18 at the break, and the Blazers were unable to get back in the game. The losers did cut a few off the lead in the third period with Wayne Finger leading a comeback, but the Indians resumed control in the final quarter and ran out the clock.

Jiminy Peak Cited For Four Violations

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass. (UPI) — The Jiminy Peak ski area has been cited by the Massachusetts Recreational Tramway Board for four violations in connection with a ski lift malfunction last month that injured a dozen persons.

The board Tuesday said the ski lift personnel failed to maintain the braking system; failed to make a proper inspection of the lift the day the accident occurred Jan. 30; failed to adequately train lift personnel and failed to keep a record of lift maintenance.

Board member Channing P. Murdock said the ski area operators are liable for $100 fines for each violation and that it is up to the state Attorney's General office to impose the fines.

The win boosted the Rhinebeck record to 9-2. The last Indian loss was to Pine Plains on the road. Rhinebeck has a chance to square that series and take over sole possession of first place when the Bombers pay a return visit Friday.

Red Hook's Sandy Stash scores against Coleman

In UCAL Girls National Division

Highland Escapes Cellar

KINGSTON—Unless one considers Highland's victory over New Paltz significant in a battle of have-nots, there were no surprises Tuesday night in girls basketball in the Ulster County Athletic League.

Highland downed New Paltz, 52-34, to gain only its second win but it also climbed out of the National Division cellar after Pine Bush whopped Marlboro, 52-23. In other games, Red Hook remained unbeaten by topping Coleman, 55-42, Ellenville crushed Rondout Valley, 65-25, and Wallkill stayed one and one-half games behind the Raiders in the American division with its 53-40 victory over Fallsburgh.

"They had easy layups and we never could catch up," said New Paltz coach Jane Baumgardner. Her team fell behind to Highland, 17-6 after the first quarter and 30-16 at the half. A 13-4 Highland spurge in the third quarter put the nails in the coffin as the Huguenots fell to 1-6.

Patti Cerra led the victors with 16 points and Dawn Lapinski added 14. Sandy Bort had 16 for New Paltz, its only double figures scorer, and she accounted for nearly half its points.

Cindy Birdsall scored 18 of her game high 26 points in the first half against Fallsburgh's loose 2-1-2 zone and Wallkill enjoyed a 36-12 lead at the half. That afforded it the luxury of being outscored, 28-17, in the second half.

"We just dominated them in the first half," said Wallkill coach Chris Mihm. "They did not deny Birdsall the ball and we just went to town on them."

We also did a good defensive job on Cheryl Prince. She got only six points in the first half."

Prince led the Comets with 17 points and pulled down an incredible 26 rebounds. Teammate Rose Hinton had 10 caroms. Mary Connors added 13 points for Wallkill. Birdsall had 15 rebounds and Joi Coulard pulled down 10.

Fallsburgh, the visiting team, enjoyed a surprising edge at the free throw line although it shot horrendously, sinking just 16 of 37 freebies. Wallkill hit on five of 11.

The second-year team out at Rondout Valley again took its lumps and growing pains, this time a 40-point shellacking at the hands of Ellenville. Cheryl Eiksata had 16 points and Cynthia Thompson led all with 27, outscoring all the Ganders.

Paula Guillon paced RVC with eight and Stacy Courtney scored six. Although it was close after the opening period, 8-6, the Blue Devils blew things open with an 18-8 second quarter. They also enjoyed a 15-5 edge in the third and an overwhelming 24-6 fourth quarter bulge.

Pine Bush, ahead by only two points after the first quarter, worked the ball inside to its star, Lyl Muthig, in the second quarter, and she responded with seven points. It enabled Pine Bush to take a 23-12 halftime lead and it faced little challenge from Marlboro in the second half.

Rose Coletta led Marlboro with nine points. Poor free throw shooting hurt the Dukes, who connected on only seven of 20.

Arkansas Clinches SWC For First Time Since 1941

By UPI
With a minute left to play in Arkansas' conquest of Texas Christian Tuesday night, Razorbacks coach Eddie Sutton stood up and started to stroll along the sideline in front of the members of his team.

He stopped at each chair, reached down and shook the hand of a player. And a few minutes later Sutton expressed his feelings toward his squad.

"I don't know if people realize what a miracle this is," said Sutton. "Our goal to start the season was to win this championship, but I think we have won more games than anyone ever thought we could. People ask me to pinpoint the reason and I think there is no question that this team has wonderful togetherness. These guys think as much of each other off the court as they do on the court and that means a lot more than some people think."

Arkansas' 79-64 victory over TCU clinched an undisputed Southwest Conference title for the 10th-ranked Razorbacks, their first such crown since 1941.

With two regular season games remaining, the Razorbacks have won 23 of 24 games and are threatening to become the first Southwest Conference team since 1956 to sweep through the league season undefeated. They have not lost this year in 14 conference games.

The win over TCU was almost a foregone conclusion, since the Horned Frogs had lost 17 in a row coming into the game.

And the Razorbacks made short work of TCU with Ron Brewer scoring 23, Marvin Delph hitting 21 and Sidney Moncrief contributing 17 before leaving with a slightly sprained ankle four minutes deep in the second half.

"Few teams can win 23 games in a single season," said Sutton, "and few teams have a chance to win 25. A long time might go by before another team in this conference wins that many games."

Not since 1948, however, has a Southwest Conference team been able to win more than one game in the NCAA tournament. In 1948, when there were only eight teams in the tournament, Baylor defeated Washington and Kansas State before losing to Kentucky in the championship game.

Elsewhere, top-ranked San Francisco defeated Loyola-Los Angeles 104-65, No. 5 Louisville beat Tulsa 91-67 and No. 15 Minnesota edged Indiana 65-61.

Center Bill Cartwright scored 24 points and forward James Hardy had 21 as San Francisco won its 28th game without a loss and clinched its 11th West Coast Athletic Conference title in 25 years. Guard Rick Wilson scored 21 points and Wesley Cox had 19 to guide Louisville to its 19th victory against three losses. Center Mike Thompson scored 21 points before fouling out and Ray Williams and Osborne Lockhart each made three free throws in the final 26 seconds to pull out Minnesota's victory over visiting Indiana.

Thompson, who broke Chuck Mencil's Minnesota career scoring record before fouling out with 7:06 to play, outscored Indiana's All-America center Kent Benson by six points. The victory raised Minnesota's overall record to 18-2 and 10-2 in the Big Ten, one-half game behind Michigan.

Also, it was Maryland 88 Pittsburgh 75, Houston 95 Texas 84, Baylor 103 Southern Methodist 73 and Texas Tech 60 Texas AM 59.

Mullaney Understates the Situation

By UPI
Joe Mullaney, the new coach of the Buffalo Braves, proved one thing in his first day on the job. He knows how to understate a situation.

Mullaney took over from Bob McKinnon, who had replaced Tates Locke seven games earlier, following Buffalo's 126-114 loss to Washington Tuesday night.

That defeat left the Braves with a 19-34 record. Since that is 20th best among the 22 NBA teams, and since Mullaney is the team's third coach this season, it's obvious something is wrong, and Mullaney said he hopes Buffalo now will "offer more than we've shown."

"I think the team, personnel wise, has some special talents that perhaps we're not taking advantage of to the fullest," he said.

Mullaney previously coached at Providence College, with the Los Angeles Lakers in the NBA, and with ABA teams at Kentucky, Utah, Memphis and St. Louis. In the game at Buffalo Tuesday night, Elvin Hayes, who thinks this may be his best year in the NBA, scored a game-high 35 points to pace the Braves to a victory that moved them 1½ games ahead of idle Houston in the Central Division.

"Things are really working well," Hayes said. "I think this is my best year. We're just running real well and getting open. The most important thing is we're playing together and we're moving the ball."

In other NBA games it was Cleveland 117 Portland 96, Boston 109 Detroit 99, Milwaukee 117 New Orleans 106, Chicago 114 New York Nets 106, Kansas City 102 Phoenix 96, San Antonio 109 Seattle 106 in overtime, and Golden State 117 Atlanta 111.

Cavaliers 117, Blazers 96. Campy Russell, making 12 of 15 field goal attempts during one spurt, scored 36 points to lead the Cavs to their victory over Portland, which again played without injured center Bill Walton. Russell scored 14 of his points in the fourth period when the Cavs scored 40 points. Maurice Lucas led Portland with 25.

Celtics 109, Pistons 99. Jo Jo White scored seven of his 23 points in the last four minutes, lifting the Celtics to their win over the Pistons. Sidney Wicks' field goal broke a 97-97 tie with 3:18 left and the Celtics went on to outscore the Pistons 10-2 and win handily.

Bucks 117, Jazz 102. Brian Winters scored 32 points and Swen Nater added 28 with 18 rebounds in the Bucks' triumph over the Jazz. Pete Maravich and Nate Williams scored 21 each and James McElroy had 18 for the Jazz.

Bulls 114, Nets 106. John Mengelt scored 26 points for the Bulls, who defeated an undermanned Net team which started the game with eight players and finished it with six after two fouled out. Mike Bantom had a game-high 28 points for New York but fouled out along with Jan van Breda Kolff.

Kings 102, Suns 96. Ron Boone's 26 points led five Kansas City players in double figures as the Kings dealt the Suns their ninth loss in their last 10 road games. Paul Wetphal led the Suns with 30 points and Alvan Adams added 26 and 13 rebounds. Sam Lacey had 16 and eight rebounds for the Kings.

Umpires Threaten Walkout

NEW YORK (UPI) — Contract negotiations between umpires and the major league baseball clubs are progressing so slowly that it could affect the spring training exhibition season.

American League President Lee MacPhail said Tuesday that very little progress in the talks had been made since the winter meetings in December. "It's strictly a matter of economics," said MacPhail. "The difference is all money, strictly money. But I don't envision any great problem here. It might be a problem with spring training, but I hope not. We'll do anything we can to stay away from it."

The umpires are seeking a marked increase in salary. MacPhail said the average salary paid to umpires now was "about $22,000" per year but he envisioned that some umpires would be receiving in the neighborhood of $50,000 per year after the new contract is settled.

One proposal offered by the AL, in order to cut expenditures, is to reduce the umpire crews from four to three per game. With the expansion of teams to Toronto and Seattle, the AL has estimated it would cost between $200,000 and $250,000 to put on a new crew for this season.

Premier Battle Tightens

SAUGERTIES — Naccarato Insurance's clear path into the Saugerties Athletic Association Premier League basketball playoffs was hampered last week when Boo's Tavern rose up to hand the leaders a 114-99 defeat.

It was the first loss of the second round for Naccarato, which must win this part of the pennant race to earn a berth opposite first round champion Kaye Sports in the league finals.

Kaye, which meets Naccarato once more in the regular season, moved to within a game of first in the second round by topping Gokey Brothers Insurance, 93-86. If Kaye wins the second round flag, a final playoff will be unnecessary.

Scott Wilson scored 38 points and came down with 11 rebounds as Boo's came from behind in the second half. Jim Cosentino added 27 points, 13 rebounds and eight assists.

Rod Chando's 34 points and 16 assists, and Ted Wood's 29 points and 12 rebounds led Naccarato.

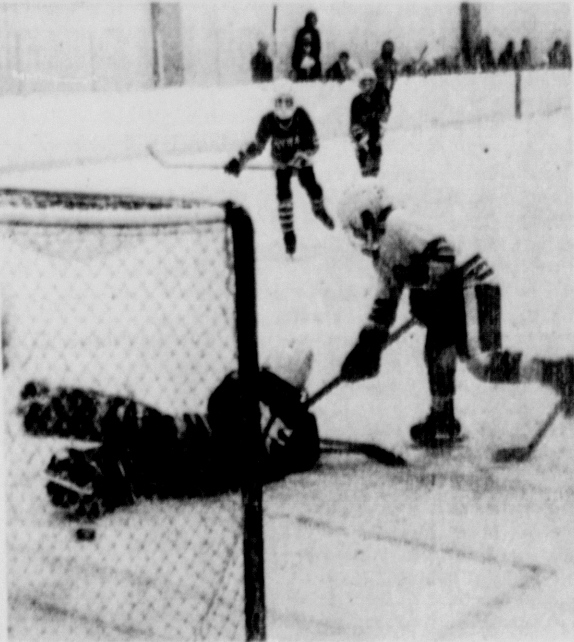

Rich Koegel flipped in 30 points, pulled down 14 rebounds and dished off eight assists to spark Kaye over Gokey. Tom Whitaker added 25 points and 13 rebounds.

Ronnie Burris' 29 points and 19 rebounds paced the losers.

The boxes:

Naccarato (99) — Chando 34, Wood 29, Zweg 16, Naccarato 14, Murphy 6, Boo's Tavern (114) — Wilson 38, Cosentino 27, L. Whitaker 16, Harris 12, Gadrinski 12, Batic 8.

Gokey Brothers (86) — Burris 29, Wilcox 25, Toney 20, Hockett 10, Keenan 6, Kaye Sports (93) — Koegel 30, T. Whitaker 25, Hellenschmidt 17, Mackey 13, Tammany 8, Gokey Bros. 34, Kaye Sports 47, 44-93.

Colonials Split Five Ice Matches

POUGHKEEPSIE — The Colonial Hockey Club of Kingston split five games over the weekend. The Pee Wees lost to Dutchess, 7-3, and beat Pawling, 2-1, the Squirts tied Dutchess, 2-2, lost to Troy, 4-1, and beat Pawling, 7-0.

Mike Ryan scored twice in the tie against Dutchess. Kirk Lussier and Scott Messenger lit the red light in the Pee Wee defeat to Dutchess. Stu Foisy was the Colonial scorer as Troy beat Kingston despite strong goaltending by the losers' Patrick Hoey.

Jamie Burns, John Esposito, Joe Hoey, Tom Hoey and Scott Mathson had the goals as the Squirts zipped Pawling behind the shutout goal-keeping of Mike Yonta. And Mike Ryan and Dan Cole scored in the 2-1 win over Pawling. Mark Tabaldi was solid on defense, Hunter Cranfield and Bill Hughes had asists and Pat Hoey was the goalie in that one.

Dodigs, Peetoom Win One-on-One

SAUGERTIES — Randy Dodig, Jeff Dodig and Jeff Peetoom were winners of the first annual Saugerties Athletic Association Biddy League One-on-One basketball tournament.

Randy Dodig took Billy DeFino, 9-7, 14-6 in the junior finals; Jeff Dodig stopped Derek Whittaker, 8-7, 11-2 and 12-2 in the intermediate finals; and Peetoom downed John Harris, 12-10, in double overtime of the senior finals.

MACK'S FACTS FOR YOUR GOOD HEALTH

V.D. - VENEREAL DISEASE

The term venereal disease refers to a group of communicable diseases usually transmitted by sexual contact. There are several major venereal diseases, but the most common are syphilis and gonorrhea.

Only a few years ago, VD was considered to be under control, particularly with the advent of penicillin and other antibiotics. Today, it has returned as a major health concern, ranking among the top five most communicable diseases in this country.

Next week - More about V.D.

Fire Department Cops Wild Sawyer Race

SAUGERTIES — The wild Saugerties Athletic Association Sawyer League basketball race came to an end last week with the Fire Department, despite losing four of its last five games, winning the pennant when its chasers also lost pivotal games.

Keeley's Korner and Mark IV Printing both had a shot at gaining at least a piece of the flag, but Mark IV lost twice to last place Village Cobbler and Keeley's fell to Modjeska Signs and Pine Grove Pivots. The Firemen, meanwhile, backed into the championship after it was beaten by the Pivots.

The Firemen finished with a 10-5 record, one gain better than Keeley's and two on top of Modjeska Signs and Mark IV.

Still at stake is the post-season playoffs with the top two teams drawing byes, awaiting the results of the other matchups.

In the final regular season games, Village Cobbler edged Mark IV, 84-82; Pine Grove took the Firemen, 77-52; Village Cobbler dumped Mark IV, 74-68; Modjeska Signs tripped Keeley's, 82-79; and the Pivots routed Keeley's, 100-53.

Among the top performances during this stretch were games of 26 and 30 points apiece by the Cobblers' Jim Whiteford; a 39-point game by Modjeska's Bob Melenciano; and a two-day total of 45 points, 21 rebounds and 20 assists by the Pivots' Alan Kane.

Tom Dunlap of Modjeska won the scoring race with an average of 27.4 per game. Keeley's Bob Ostovic was top rebounder and Kane won the assist crown. Clark Hackett of Keeley's had the No. 1 free throw shooting percentage.

State Economy Looks Up

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — There were indications of a slight improvement in the state's economy in December, according to the state Commerce Department.

Commissioner John Dyson said the department's Index of Business Activity rose one point to 107 in December. Activity in the base year of 1967 has been assigned a value of 100.

The department said more activity in the factory and finance-insurance-real estate sectors accounted for the slight increase.

In December 1975, the index showed the economy at 104. The department said all sectors except construction showed a gain over December 1975.

Even in the construction industry, the department noted, "despite the lowest annual level of construction activity and employment in three decades, there were some signs of improvement in contract construction in December."

Gas Co. Profits Soar

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Consolidated Natural Gas Co. Tuesday reported 1976 profits of $93.4 million, or $4.94 a share, compared with $67.7 million, or $3.58 a share, in 1975.

Net income was $98.9 million in 1976 and $72.9 million in 1975.

Chairman Robert E. Seymour said the increase was due to "the unusual combination of extremely cold weather across our system's service area and the settlement during the year of seven rate cases—one of which was pending since 1970—which allowed us such-needed rate relief."

Seymour said the better return will enable the company to continue to pursue ways to improve the supply of gas to the company's customers in New York, Ohio, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

19% Jump for Big Four, New Record for Ford

Domestic New Car Sales Second Highest in 12 Years

DETROIT (UPI) — The U.S. auto industry rebounded from the worst of the January blizzards to post the best early February domestic new car sales in 12 years and the second highest ever for the period.

The best of the auto company sales reports Tuesday was from the Ford Motor Co., which established a new Feb. 1-10 sales record. The four companies, as a group, increased sales 19 per cent over last year.

Ford sales for the period were a record 27 per cent above a year ago. While falling short of establishing a new mark, General Motors sales were up 26 per cent.

Chrysler recorded a 9 per cent drop and American Motors, struggling to recover from a continuing small car slump, said its sales were off 21 per cent.

The percentages were computed on a daily sales rate with nine selling days this year and eight a year ago. On a seasonally adjusted basis, sales were at a 10.4 million annual rate, higher than anything in recent history. One industry analyst cautioned, however, that the figure was misleading since it was affected by the weather.

"An entire month at that rate would mean we're really headed for a record this year, but 10-day figures can be distorted," the analyst said. "Basically, the same sales pattern is holding — mid-sized and bigger cars selling well and small cars just holding their own."

Truck sales were a record for early February, up 49 per cent from last year with each of the "Big Three" reporting record deliveries.

"Some of the increase we saw in early February was the result of the low January sales," one analyst said. "A lot of cars that could not be delivered in late January finally were turned over to customers this month."

Normally, early february sales fall about 12 per cent from January levels. This year, Feb. 1-10 sales were up 4 per cent over January.

The four companies sold 224,601 cars in the Feb. 1-10 period, or 24,956 a day, compared with 167,608 cars in the year-ago period, or 20,951 cars a day. Even with the low sales in late January, the automakers through Feb. 10 sold 825,926 cars.

Mideast Mission Begins

'Useful Talks' Start Vance Tour

JERUSALEM(UPI) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance today began his Middle East fact-finding mission with "very useful and friendly talks" with Israeli leaders and a deeply moving visit to a memorial to Jewish victims of Nazi persecution.

Vance, who arrived Tuesday night from Washington, had a two-hour breakfast meeting with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin at his three-story whitestone residence.

Rabin told Israeli reporters afterward, "I was very, very satisfied" with the discussions.

"There is a trend to have a special relationship based on a searching for peace and the strengthening of Israel," he said.

Later, Vance met with Foreign Minister Yigal Alon in the Foreign Ministry and the two men emerged from the talks together.

"Let me say we had some very useful and friendly talks," the American secretary said.

Allon added, "I would not disagree with the secretary of state."

Then the two drove off in the same car for lunch in the prime minister's office with Rabin.

Vance was also to meet with President Ephraim Katzir, former Prime Minister Golda Meir and Defense Minister Shimon Peres.

The secretary, who will also visit Egypt, Lebanon, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Syria, is making his first diplomatic tour for the Carter administration and has emphasized that he has come to learn and has no new peace initiatives or proposals.

"It will be kind of a history lesson," one Israeli official said of the talks with Vance.

Looming over the talks was a single dominant question: How to deal with Palestinian representation at a Geneva conference on the Middle East.

Israeli and American officials have agreed that was the major issue in the preliminary talks here. There was no agreement, however, between the two sides on how to meet that problem.

The last formal meeting of the Geneva talks, between Israel and the Arab countries, was held in December 1973.

Israeli officials insisted Tuesday night that Israel will not accept the seating at Geneva of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By Jeane Dixon

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Unplanned factors push gains and losses up. Venture further, learn more. You run over budget for what seems a real bargain but is an unintended acquisition.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Where you share ownership or management, let difficulties emerge so everybody sees them before you solve them. Sensible maneuvers weed out old hangups.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Too many claims on your time? Cut back to basics that serve your goals. You won't lose any important contact, will attract one who admires your determination.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Slow down for better results, a few details worked out well instead of many done badly. Ask to be relieved of any job you can't finish singlehanded this week.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Present potential achievement in a strong light. Be conspicuous as you demonstrate new skills. Leave capital in proven investments. Avoid speculation.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Neither lend nor borrow. What changes hands on a temporary basis will be long returning, if ever, or in an odd form you have trouble converting to use.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Restrict what you do to what you know well, as no easy correction is possible if you err or misjudge. Overoptimism places a high value on a poker face.

Projects phase out. Pay attention! You either chalk up good profit or write off substantial loss. People expect too much too soon; be careful what you promise.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Your program looks as if it will breeze right through. If you overdo any part, especially legal procedures, it falls apart. Personal relations are intriguing.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Take your money out of play, salt it away for another opportunity. Social, business contacts are successful but don't immediately produce desired outcome.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Technical advice is on the encouraging side as to prospects. Plan long term for home expansions, but make no commitment yet. Discard unwanted or defective items.

THURSDAY, FEB. 17
Your birthday today: Symbolic revolt tangibly improves your level of daily living, makes you less dependent, more self-reliant. If in your early working years, changes in vocation come swiftly. You face steep challenge, exciting experience, risk beyond average, potentially high rewards. Skills in communication go up markedly. Today's natives tell a good story, are musicians, actors, or writers. Those born this year have several careers ahead of them, will forage for themselves.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Your interests are best served by honestly being yourself, not copying anyone or competing. Treat all contacts as if some major good can come of them.

Taurus (April 20-May 20):

TEEN FORUM

By JEAN ADAMS, Ph.D.

I believe they will listen to you.

(Have a problem? Write to Dr. Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas, 77001. Every letter is read, but because of the great number received, Dr. Adams cannot send personal replies.)

(A.) You say Steve stopped dating you. But you also say you are still going with him. If you are seeing him on the sly, without your parents' knowledge, I urge you to stop doing so until you get the question of dating straightened out. Sneaking could get you in deeper trouble.

Whatever the situation between you and Steve, talk to your parents again. Talking is the only way to work out differences.

Promise to follow their rules about the time a date must go home. Tell them that you still like Steve and would like to have him visit you again. Tell them you need to have friends; all girls do.

with the boy. If she is smart, she may decide just to let him go.

LATE DATE: (Q.) I like this guy Steve a lot. We have been going together a long time, and still are. One night, though, he came to see me and didn't leave till 1. My mother and father got mad and now they won't let me have dates.

I was 14 when Steve started coming to date me, and I was still 14 when he stopped dating me. Now I am 15 and they still won't let me date. Please help me. I have not asked them again because I know they will say no.

Steve is 15 too. — Hurt in Alabama.

BOOMERANG: (Q.) My friend and I wrote a "Secret Admirer" note to my sister's boy friend for a joke. He took it seriously and broke up with my sister to meet the "secret admirer."

How can we help them get back together again? — Guilty in New York.

(A.) Don't feel too guilty. Although your trick may have made your sister unhappy, it also should have opened her eyes. Her boy friend's feelings for her weren't too strong if such an old joke completely turned his head.

Apologize to her for your unkindness. But let her handle any effort to get back

THOUGHT IS BETTER THAN APPEARANCES

by Alfred Sheinwold

A declarer who has a singleton ace usually leads it as soon as he can and then looks for a way to reach dummy for other high cards in the suit. Don't relax when this seems to be happening. Some opponents are sly rascals.

East. Then South ran his nine tricks. East was foolish to play South for a singleton ace of diamonds. South had five clubs at most and would have at least seven cards in spades and hearts if he had a singleton diamond. He would surely have a better rebid of one or two of a major suit than his actual bid of two notrump. East should have thought about this instead of relying on appearances.

South saw that he had only eight tricks as he took the jack of spades. If West had the ace of clubs, South could set up a club trick at any time; West could not profitably continue the spades. But if East had the ace of clubs, he would take it and lead a spade, whereupon West would defeat the contract with the rest of the spades.

South made his contract by leading the ace of diamonds at the second trick. Then he led the king of clubs. East refused the trick, thinking that South had no more diamonds and needed a club entry to dummy.

British Foreign Secretary Near Death

LONDON(UPI) — Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland was in a coma and near death today. A family spokesman said, "We are prepared for the worst."

Crosland, 58, suffered a stroke Sunday at his country home near Oxford.

David Lipsey, Crosland's personal and political assistant, was close to tears Tuesday when he told reporters at Oxford's Radcliffe Infirmary, "He is in a coma and sinking fast. He is receiving intensive nursing care and everything possible is being done to ensure he is comfortable."

Crosland's American-born wife, Susan, was at his bedside. Officials said she had received messages of sympathy from Queen Elizabeth, currently touring in the South Pacific, Prime Minister James Callaghan and President Carter.

Political sources said even if Crosland recovered he probably would be unable to resume his job and Callaghan would have to name a successor soon.

Britain is deeply involved in seeking a peaceful transition to black majority rule in Rhodesia and also is chairman of the European Common Market Council of Ministers for the first six months of 1977.

Crosland played key roles in both these undertakings. Dr. David Owen, 38, Crosland's deputy, was temporarily in charge of the Foreign Office but political sources said he lacked the necessary experience to keep Britain's top foreign policy job permanently.

They said Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey, 59, was Crosland's most likely successor. Politicians said Callaghan was planning to have Healey and Crosland, an economics expert, trade jobs this summer after Healey ushered in the new budget.

Healey was the Labor Party's foreign policy spokesman in Parliament during the late 1950s and early 1960s and is known to want the Foreign Office job.
